COUNT FOLKE CRACKS DOWN IN PALESTINE

U. N. Mediator Acts After Midnight-to-Dawn Battle Rages Through City's Outskirts

AWAITS JEWISH REPLY

Rhodes, Aug. 12—(AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte cracked down on Palestine belligerents today, ordering Arabs and Jews to halt the shooting in Jerusalem after 1 a. m. (EST) tomorrow.

The United Nations mediator acted after a midnight-to-dawn battle raged yesterday through the city outskirts. It was the biggest fight since the U. N.-ordered truce went into effect.

Bernadotte said the Arabs have accepted the order "but so far I have received no reply from the Jews."

He said the order directed both Arabs and Jews to see that all units — regular and irregular troops—do not return any fire because "it's easier for the U. N. observers then to tell which party starts the firing."

Bernadotte received reports from his observers just before he left Palestine for Rhodes. Seventy-five observers now are on duty.

"From these reports," he said, "it is my opinion that the initiative for the shooting came from the Jewish side. The Jews, however, told me it was started by the Arab side."

A Tel Aviv dispatch said thous- artillery shells whistled over Jerands of rifle shots and heavy usalem Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

Tel Aviv, Israel, Aug. 12—(AP)—Two explosions blasted and burned the Latrun pumping station halfway between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv early today, wrecking United Nations plan to deliver water to Jewish Jerusalem by tomorrow.

The pumping station was taken over by United Nations observers yesterday. Technicians were scheduled to make minor repairs and start some operations today.

The station is one of several booster points to lift water through the pipeline from the coast over the Judean hills to Jerusalem. All the other stations are in working order and are held by the Jews.

The Latrun station was held by the Arabs but it was placed in no man's-land by an agreement between the Arab legion and the U. N.

Lt. Col. Al Perry, chief U. N. observer here, was informed of the explosions at 4 a. m. He left promptly for Haifa to report to U. N. headquarters there.

Col. Frank Begley, chief observer of the convoy and water route who left yesterday for Rhodes with Count Folke Bernadotte, the U. N. mediator, repeatedly has asked for marine guards at the pumping station to prevent sabotage.

Tips For Breaking Traditional Jinx

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—If you can't spend Friday the thirteenth safely tucked away in bed (the Red Cross said today in these very words) here are some of the tips for breaking the day's traditional jinx:

While the Red Cross doesn't exactly advocate walking under ladders, it insists there's more danger in tripping over a curb, so avoid the practice.

It doesn't find fault with shying away from black cats in one's path, but feels it more important for pedestrians to keep out of the path of automobiles, black or any other color.

The worst thing about breaking a mirror is not seven years of bad luck, but the danger of cutting one's fingers on the broken pieces. So sweep up the pieces with a broom and a dust-pan.

Finally, the Red Cross cautions the public to follow simple precautions to prevent accidents at all times, just as though every day were Friday the thirteenth.

CIRCUIT RACING DELAYED

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 12—(AP)—Rain forced postponement today of the Grand Circuit Harness Racing program scheduled at Good Time track. Today's program will be held tomorrow, with the Friday program moved back to Saturday, originally an open date.

U. S., British and French Ambassadors At Kremlin For Another Talk With Molotov

Moscow, Aug. 12—(AP)—American, British and French ambassadors visited the Kremlin today for another talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov.

U. S. Ambassador Walter B. Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau and the special British envoy, Frank Roberts, motored together from the American embassy to the Kremlin for the appointment with Molotov at 5 p. m. (9 a. m. Eastern Standard Time).

It was the fourth time in two weeks the western representatives have called upon Molotov for talks aimed at ending Soviet blockade of Berlin and a solution of other east-west differences in Europe.

(A diplomatic informant in London said today that the west "can be expected to ask" Prime Minister Stalin to intervene personally in the Berlin stalemate if the talks with Molotov fail. The informant, who has been following the Moscow exchanges from the inside said that up until yesterday there had been no sign of softening in the western powers' line).

Smith told correspondents that the three westerns would confer at the U. S. Embassy after the Kremlin meeting. "I'll give you my usual no comment statement," he said.

BULLETIN

Berlin, Aug. 12—(AP)—A third bureau of the elected Berlin city government was threatened today with a split-up between Russian and non-Communist control. The Communist head of the labor department refused to abide by a decision of the city government to give the anti-Communist faction of the Trade Union Federation rights to negotiate with employers. He insisted that only the Communist faction, backed by the Russians, had such powers.

Berlin, Aug. 12—(AP)—Blockaded Berliners have appealed to the western powers to make no compromise in Moscow that might give the Communists control of the city.

Some 5,000 Germans at a rally in the U. S. sector last night cheered demands that no settlement be made in the Soviet capital at their expense. The meeting was sponsored by the Conservative Christian Democratic Union (CDU).

The chief speaker, CDU Chairman Jacob Kaiser asserted the Russian blockade had made Berlin "an island in a Red Sea—but an island which will not surrender."

In London, diplomatic informants said the western powers will give their answer to Soviet ideas for a Berlin settlement in the

Couple Starts World Trip In Army "Duck"

New York, Aug. 12—(AP)—A 17-foot "duck," with two persons aboard, is reported chugging along far out on the Atlantic in the first lap of a planned trip around the world.

The passengers, an Australian major and his American wife, expect to make the globe-circling journey by both land and sea in their small amphibian craft.

News of the hazardous voyage came yesterday from Ware Lynch, an associate of the Australian.

Lynch said he had received a message from the U. S. Navy that a destroyer had sighted the "duck" and its two occupants 128 miles southeast of New York Monday.

He said the Australian, Major Benjamin F. Carlin, 35, and his wife, the former Elinore Arone, 29, of Boston, began their voyage from here Saturday.

The navy contacted Lynch after the two travelers hailed a destroyer and asked that "Lynch" at a New York City telephone number be notified that "we're okay."

The couple plan to travel 25,771 miles by land and water, circling the world in six months. The truck-like vehicle travels 4½ miles an hour in water, and 20 to 30 miles an hour by land.

Their route is from the Azores to the north coast of Africa, then through the Near East to Rangoon. From the Malay peninsula they will go by Wake, Midway and other islands to Honolulu. Then comes the longest water lap—more than 2,300 miles to San Francisco.

POLIO VICTIM

Chester, Aug. 12—(AP)—Mrs. Elma Guiseppe, Kennett Square, Pa., 40-year-old mother of a 21-months-old boy, died in Chester County Hospital yesterday of infantile paralysis.

G. O. P. Congress Blamed For Losses By Wheat Farmers

Harrisburg, Aug. 12—(AP)—Philip Mathews, Democratic state chairman, said today Pennsylvania wheat farmers will lose millions "thanks to a Republican congress."

Mathews said the loss will result from the action of the 80th congress in curtailing the federal crop-insurance program so that farmers in only five instead of 45 counties can recover part of their loss in the current wheat crop failure.

The state agriculture department yesterday estimated the wheat crop loss at $8,367,000. It said a federal-state crop report showed the expected yield had fallen off 3,836,000 bushels in a month due to black stem and leaf rust and damage from Hessian fly.

The production and marketing administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture previously estimated the loss at $16,000,000.

Mathews, in a statement, said the farmers in 40 counties "must now bear the full burden of their losses."

He said wheat-crop insurance originally was established in 1938 and remained in effect until the 80th congress "imposed restrictions which forced the U. S. Department of Agriculture to reduce the program from 1,400 to 200 counties throughout the country."

Previously, he said 11,955 wheat farmers in 45 counties had participated. The other 40 counties were: Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Blair, Bucks, Carbon, Centre, Clarion, Clearfield, Clinton, Cumberland, Dauphin, Erie, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Huntingdon, Indiana, Juniata, Lawrence, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Mercer, Mifflin, Montgomery, Moutour, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Schuylkill, Snyder, Somerset, Union, Warren, Washington, Westmoreland and York.

80-Year-Old Man Held In Slaying

McConnellsburg, Aug. 12—(AP)—A hearing was fixed for Monday for John Hoopengardner, 80-year-old wheat farmer charged with murder in the shotgun slaying of a neighbor.

District Attorney Albert Foster announced the hearing date yesterday after a coroner's jury found that the dead man, A. Wilhelm Fischer, 57, of Buck Valley, Fulton county, "died as a result of gunshot wounds." The body was found in a field near Fischer's home on August 2.

The murder charge against Hoopengardner was filed by State Police Cpl. William R. Lammie.

Foster said Hoopengardner already has waived a preliminary hearing, and added the hearing Monday would be to determine whether to make the murder charge of the first or second degree. The accused man is being held in the county jail here.

FIRE ABOARD SHIP

Baltimore, Aug. 12—(AP)—The crew of the Swedish Freighter Axel Salen ended today a night-long vigil in Chesapeake Bay with a fire still threatening possible trouble in the ship's hold. ## Five Men Killed In Latest Series Of Airplane Crashes

By The Associated Press

Five men were killed today in the latest of a series of airplane accidents in which two planes were destroyed by fire and three others were reported missing in widely separated sections of the globe.

In Kansas an air force plane crashed in flames shortly after its takeoff from the Topeka air base. Five men were killed and two injured seriously.

A Transcanada Air Lines plane burst into flames shortly after landing at Sydney, N. S. Coot work by the stewardess aided the escape without injury of the 11 passengers and six crew members. The $800,000 plane was destroyed.

The navy reported a four-engine navy Privateer with a crew of nine and two aerologists missing on a weather reconnaissance flight 450 miles west of Guam today.

YEGGS SECURE $562,000 IN CUBA HOLDUP

Airports, Ships and Trains Watched for Polite Band Of Robbers That Held Up Havana Bank

NO SHOTS ARE FIRED

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 12—(AP)—Cuban police today sought a polite band of robbers who strolled into a midtown Havana bank yesterday and sauntered out again with $562,000 in cash.

All airports, ships and trains are being watched for the smooth-working bandits who herded 18 persons into a rear room of a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada just after the 3 p. m. closing time, then looted the bank's vault and cashier's cage without being molested.

The robbery was executed by eight or ten men led by one dressed in a policeman's uniform. Although they were armed with pistols and machineguns not a shot was fired.

As the group entered the bank, the uniformed leader politely told the door guard in Spanish:

"These gentlemen are coming in with me—and so are you. Kindly take a place right behind me, and don't try to draw your gun or the gentleman behind me will shoot you full of holes."

They then ordered Branch Manager Esteban Juncadella, 13 other employes, a bank guard and three customers into the rear room.

Juncadella said a preliminary check indicated the thieves took a total of $562,000 in U. S. dollars and Cuban pesos. The peso has the same value as the dollar. He said $365,000 was taken from the vault and the balance from the cashier's window. All of it was in bills of $100, $500 and $1,000 denomination, both Cuban and American.

The robbers left behind 40,000 one peso bills, apparently because of the bulk and $115,000 in other small denomination bills. Evidently they overlooked $15,000 in 500 peso bills.

About a half hour after they entered the bank, the thieves sauntered out, their loot wrapped up in typewriter and adding machine covers.

It was the third bank robbery in Havana's history and the largest.

(On Sept. 17, 1930, the Lincoln, Nebraska, National Bank and Trust Company was robbed of $2,268,700 in cash and negotiable securities. C. A. Sorenson, Nebraska attorney general at that time, said he still believes that was the biggest bank robbery in history.)

ALIQUIPPA WILL TEST WAGE TAX REBELLION

Aliquippa, Aug. 12—(AP)—Borough officials today planned a legal test of the refusal of an exburgess to collect a wage tax from the three employes of his drug store.

Solicitor Louis Klein said George L. Kiefer, the former borough official, will be charged soon with violating the four mill wage tax adapted some three months ago. Kiefer, who said he declined to be a tax collector, asked the borough to prosecute him or drop the tax.

In another Beaver county financial tangle, Hopewell township school directors announced they would pay 52 teachers with $20,000 worth of non-interest bearing scrip. The board said it was dead broke until September tax receipts are available.

ANNUAL SHOWER OF METEORS IS VISIBLE

New York, Aug. 12—(AP)—The annual shower of perseid meteors is expected to be visable, beginning tonight, and for the next few nights.

Robert R. Coles, of the Hayden Planetarium, says that as many as 50 "shooting stars" may be counted during a single hour, if cloud conditions are favorable.

Each summer, in the earth's cycle around the sun, it passes through the orbit of the meteors, thousands of which are caught annually in the earth's gravitation and plunge eartward.

They are extremely small and burn out high in the earth's atmosphere.

Ruth Is Better But Condition Still Critical

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—Babe Ruth's condition today was reported as improved, but still critical.

A bulletin issued at 9:31 a. m. in Memorial Hospital by Dr. Hayes Martin stated:

"Babe Ruth rallied this morning. His pulse is stronger. Condition improved, although still critical.

The home-run king, greatest long-distance slugger in the history of baseball, has been unwell for two years. He took a sudden turn for the worse yesterday after developing a cold.

The Memorial Hospital center for cancer and allied diseases said he was suffering from "pulmonary complications."

The 53-year-old Babe rallied slightly last night, but the hospital said his condition was "still critical." Early today the hospital said there was "no change."

Only members of his immediate family and a long-time friend, Paul Carey, treasurer of the Babe Ruth Foundation, were permitted in Ruth's hospital room.

Ruth's second wife, Claire, was at his bedside much of the time.

Other members of the family are a sister, Mrs. Wilbur Moberley, and two adopted daughters—Mrs. Dorothy Sullivan and Mrs. Richard Flanders.

Hundreds of messages from the Babe's well-wishers poured into the hospital.

Neighborhood youngsters, in small groups, trooped in from playgrounds to the hospital lobby to ask about the Babe. One group of 20 children brought a bouquet.

Miketish Is Held For Court Action

Smethport, Aug. 12 — (AP) — George Miketish, 28, of Gifford, was held without bail for court action yesterday on charges that he clubbed his 23-year-old wife, Gertrude, to death.

Miketish, who waived a preliminary hearing before Alderman Carroll Clayton at Bradford, was arrested near Eldred on the New York-Pennsylvania line after a telephone operator reported she had seen him walking along a road.

Miketish was charged also with assault with intent to kill his wife's parents and with the theft of an automobile in which he fled Aug. 2.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Leake said Miketish told him after his arrest that he was on his way home to surrender to police. District Attorney C. W. Shattuck of McKean county said Miketish signed a statement in which he said he did not mean to kill his wife.

Mrs. Miketish's father, Darwin Daily, 48, remained in a critical condition today in Bradford Hospital where he was treated for shotgun wounds of the face and chest.

Cigarette Smokers Set a New Record

Washington, Aug. 12 — (AP) — Americans smoked 345,000,000,000 cigarettes during the year ended June 30—another new record.

This was the equivalent of about 121 packs for every man, woman and child. But inasmuch as many persons do not smoke, the number used by smokers averaged much higher than that. How much, no one knows.

Consumption in the previous year—which smashed a record set the year before—totaled 327,000,000,000 cigarettes, or an average of about 119 packs for the population.

The Agriculture Department, which put out these figures today, said another new record is expected during the current year.

Cigarette smoking has increased strikingly since before the war, the department said, as higher purchasing power has tended to boost both consumption per smoker and the number of smokers.

Dover, Del., Aug. 1—(AP)—Delaware's Republican convention stuck with the incumbents by nominating U. S. Senator C. Douglas Buck and Rep. J. Caleb Boggs for election.

Subjects Object to His Luxury

Reported to be the second richest man in the world, the Gaekwar of Baroda, left, ruler of a princely state in India, is being urged to abdicate his throne. Led by Premier Dr. Pavrai Mehta, the people have demanded the Gaekwar's resignation, claiming that he spends huge sums on luxurious living while the people are in the grip of a terrible famine. The Gaekwar is shown with wife, the Ranee, and son.

London, Aug. 12 (AP) The rich maharajah of Baroda took his ease in England today, seemingly in no rush to get back to India to answer critics who want him to abdicate. A member of his household at Headley, in Surrey, said the potentate was still asleep at 10 a. m. today. He arrived on the Queen Elizabeth last night from New York and ducked reporters who wanted to ask him about accusations made by the Baroda state legislature that he dipped into the state treasury for $10,000,000 in a six-week spending spree. The maharajah's secretary said a statement would be issued tomorrow concerning the maharajah's plans.

Record Vote-Getter Is Added To Truman Cabinet In Tobin Acceptance Of Labor Post

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP) President Truman added a record vote-getter to his cabinet today and Democratic party aides hoped the newcomer, Maurice J. Tobin, would help corral the labor ballot in November.

Tobin stepped out of the Massachusetts governor's race last night to accept the post of secretary of labor which has been vacant since the death of Lewis B. Schwellenbach June 10.

The 47-year old New Englander brings to Washington a political record in which (1) he twice defeated James M. Curley for mayor of Boston, the stronghold of that veteran Democratic party leader; (2) in winning the Bay State's governorship in 1944, he became the first candidate to top the million-vote-mark in a gubernatorial race there. In fact, Tobin polled 13,000 more votes than the late President Roosevelt received in the state.

Well-liked by union organizations, Tobin was expected to take a major part in the Truman election drive, stressing the Democratic pledge to seek repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The president nominated Tobin last Saturday but the senate did not pass on the appointment in the adjournment rush. However, he will hold down the $15,000 a year job under a recess appointment.

Some other Democrats, meanwhile, fired new broadsides against a Truman legislative program which they branded as oppressive.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina told a cheering States' Rights party launching in Houston last night that Mr. Truman's civil rights program "calls for a police state in this country."

Thurmond and his running mate, Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi, lashed out at the administration and the national Democratic party in their formal speeches accepting nomination on the States' Rights ticket.

Thurmond predicted he would receive more electoral college votes than Mr. Truman.

He told the States' Right meeting "the Democratic convention repudiated the principles of the Democratic party and followed a pattern fashioned by the nominee of the Republican convention x x x in putting the civil rights program in the platform.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee, joined in the attack on the Truman administration. He told the executive committee of the Young Republican National Federation in Albany that the Democrats were resorting to "easy remedies and quack solutions" for the nation's problems.

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—Russia protested to the United States today against New York court directing the Soviet consul in New York City to produce in court a Russian school teacher.

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—Under close guard, a Russian school teacher was brought to Washington today to talk with congressional spy investigators while the Soviet Consul in New York defied a court order to produce another teacher.

Rep. Thomas (R-N. J.) announced that Michael Ivanovitch Samarin is here from the New York area and will be questioned by members of the House UnAmerican Committee this afternoon behind closed doors. Thomas heads the committee.

In New York City, Soviet Consul General Yakov M. Lomakin ignored a State Supreme Court writ directing that he produce Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina in court at 10:30 a. m.

It was not immediately clear what the court would, or could, do about this defiance.

Mrs. Kosenkina has been secluded in the Soviet consulate since last week when Lomakin says he "rescued" her from a White Russian (anti-Communist) retreat at Valley Cottage, N. Y.

Offer of $5,500,000 Made For Healy Petroleum Corp.

According to the Oil City Derrick the Healy Petroleum Corporation of Bradford, producer of crude oil from more than 5,400 acres in the Bradford field, has been offered close to $5,500,000 in cash for the common stock of the company.

The interests seeking to purchase the Bradford oil firm have not been revealed, but their identity is expected to be made known within the next few days. It is reported that the firm or persons seeking to buy Healey Petroleum are from the upper part of the Pennsylvania grade crude oil region.

President William J. Healey of Bradford, it has been reported, has agreed to sell all of his shares at $62.50 a share.

The purchaser has agreed to buy shares at the $62.50 price if they are deposited with the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co., Buffalo, N. Y., by the end of this month. It is reported that the purchaser is seeking to purchase at least 70 per cent. of the 85,440 shares which are outstanding.

Incorporated 29 years ago, the Healey Petroleum Corp. has been producing about 500,000 barrels of oil annually. The company has an authorized issue of 100,000 shares of common stock of which 85,440 shares are outstanding.

Ralph Hochstetter of Buffalo is vice-president of the oil firm and Lewis G. Harriman, president of the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co. of Buffalo, is secretary and treasurer.

Its oil properties, lands, buildings and equipment are carried on the books at a value of $1,780,000, after depreciation. Last year the company had gross revenues from crude oil production of $2,743,000 and a net income of $746,000 equal to $8.74 per share.

Traded over the counter, the company's common stock sold as low as $32 this year. The bid price recently jumped to $44 and then to $48 a share, but trade ceased when word went around the offer was to be made.

Agreement on Milk Orders Still Sought

Harrisburg, Aug. 12—(AP)—Pennsylvania's dissenting Milk Control Commission may meet tomorrow to try and reach an agreement on new orders which will boost milk prices 1½ cents a quart.

The commission deadlocked last week when Commissioners John L. Snyder and Charles O'Loughlin favored the 1½ cent increase, while Chairman H. N. Cobb insisted along with dairymen on a 2½ cent rise.

However, Cobb announced last night at Brookville where he is presiding at a milk hearing that he plans to call a meeting of the commission tomorrow to reconsider the problem.

Meanwhile, Snyder reported yesterday that new orders carrying out proposals made by himself and O'Loughlin have been drafted. The orders must be voted on at a formal commission meeting before they can be put into effect.

Brookville, Aug. 12 (AP)—The State Milk Control Commission held a hearing today on a proposal to transfer six western counties from milk marketing area 11 to 9. The counties are Elk, Jefferson, Warren, Forest, McKean, and Cameron; also part of Clarion.

Tips For Breaking Traditional Jinx

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—If you can't spend Friday the thirteenth safely tucked away in bed (the Red Cross said today in these very words) here are some of the tips for breaking the day's traditional jinx:

While the Red Cross doesn't exactly advocate walking under ladders, it insists there's more danger in tripping over a curb, so avoid the practice.

It doesn't find fault with shying away from black cats in one's path, but feels it more important for pedestrians to keep out of the path of automobiles, black or any other color.

The worst thing about breaking a mirror is not seven years of bad luck, but the danger of cutting one's fingers on the broken pieces. So sweep up the pieces with a broom and a dust-pan.

Finally, the Red Cross cautions the public to follow simple precautions to prevent accidents at all times, just as though every day were Friday the thirteenth.

CIRCUIT RACING DELAYED

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 12—(AP)—Rain forced postponement today of the Grand Circuit Harness Racing program scheduled at Good Time track. Today's program will be held tomorrow, with the Friday program moved back to Saturday, originally an open date.

U. S., British and French Ambassadors At Kremlin For Another Talk With Molotov

Moscow, Aug. 12—(AP)—American, British and French ambassadors visited the Kremlin today for another talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov.

U. S. Ambassador Walter B. Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau and the special British envoy, Frank Roberts, motored together from the American embassy to the Kremlin for the appointment with Molotov at 5 p. m. (9 a. m. Eastern Standard Time).

It was the fourth time in two weeks the western representatives have called upon Molotov for talks aimed at ending Soviet blockade of Berlin and a solution of other east-west differences in Europe.

(A diplomatic informant in London said today that the west "can be expected to ask" Prime Minister Stalin to intervene personally in the Berlin stalemate if the talks with Molotov fail. The informant, who has been following the Moscow exchanges from the inside, said that up until yesterday there had been no sign of softening in the western powers' line).

Smith told correspondents that the three westerns would confer at the U. S. Embassy after the Kremlin meeting. "I'll give you my usual no comment statement," he said.

Berlin, Aug. 12—(AP)—A third bureau of the elected Berlin city government was threatened today with a split-up between Russian and non-Communist control. The Communist head of the labor department refused to abide by a decision of the city government to give the anti-Communist faction of the Trade Union Federation rights to negotiate with employers. He insisted that only the Communist faction, backed by the Russians, had such powers.

Berlin, Aug. 12—(AP)—Blockaded Berliners have appealed to the western powers to make no compromise in Moscow that might give the Communists control of the city.

Some 5,000 Germans at a rally in the U. S. sector last night cheered demands that no settlement be made in the Soviet capital at their expense. The meeting was sponsored by the Conservative Christian Democratic Union (CDU).

The chief speaker, CDU Chairman Jacob Kaiser asserted the Russian blockade had made Berlin "an island in a Red Sea—but an island which will not surrender."

In London, diplomatic informants said the western powers will give their answer to Soviet ideas for a Berlin settlement in the

Couple Starts World Trip In Army "Duck"

New York, Aug. 12—(AP)—A 17-foot "duck," with two persons aboard, is reported chugging along far out on the Atlantic in the first lap of a planned trip around the world.

The passengers, an Australian major and his American wife, expect to make the globe-circling journey by both land and sea in their small amphibian craft.

News of the hazardous voyage came yesterday from Ware Lynch, an associate of the Australian.

Lynch said he had received a message from the U. S. Navy that a destroyer had sighted the "duck" and its two occupants 128 miles southeast of New York Monday.

He said the Australian, Major Benjamin F. Carlin, 35, and his wife, the former Elinore Arone, 29, of Boston, began their voyage from here Saturday.

The navy contacted Lynch after the two travelers hailed a destroyer and asked that "Lynch" at a New York City telephone number be notified that "we're okay."

The couple plan to travel 25,771 miles by land and water, circling the world in six months. The truck-like vehicle travels 4½ miles an hour in water, and 20 to 30 miles an hour by land.

Their route is from the Azores to the north coast of Africa, then through the Near East to Rangoon. From the Malay peninsula they will go by Wake, Midway and other islands to Honolulu. Then comes the longest water lap—more than 2,300 miles to San Francisco.

G. O. P. Congress Blamed For Losses By Wheat Farmers

Harrisburg, Aug. 12—(AP)—Philip Mathews, Democratic state chairman, said today Pennsylvania wheat farmers will lose millions "thanks to a Republican congress."

Mathews said the loss will result from the action of the 80th congress in curtailing the federal crop-insurance program so that farmers in only five instead of 45 counties can recover part of their loss in the current wheat crop failure.

The state agriculture department yesterday estimated the wheat crop loss at $8,367,000. It said a federal-state crop report showed the expected yield had fallen off 3,856,000 bushels in a month due to black stem and leaf rust and damage from Hessian fly.

The production and marketing administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture previously estimated the loss at $16,000,000.

Mathews, in a statement, said the farmers in 40 counties "must now bear the full burden of their losses."

He said wheat-crop insurance originally was established in 1938 and remained in effect until the 80th congress "imposed restrictions which forced the U. S. Department of Agriculture to reduce the program from 1,400 to 200 counties throughout the country."

Previously, he said 11,955 wheat farmers in 45 counties had participated. The other 40 counties were: Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Blair, Bucks, Carbon, Centre, Clarion, Clearfield, Clinton, Cumberland, Dauphin, Erie, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Huntingdon, Indiana, Juniata, Lawrence, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Mercer, Mifflin, Montgomery, Moutour, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Schuylkill, Snyder, Somerset, Union, Warren, Washington, Westmoreland and York.

80-Year-Old Man Held In Slaying

McConnellsburg, Aug. 12—(AP)—A hearing was fixed for Monday for John Hoopengardner, 80-year-old wheat farmer charged with murder in the shotgun slaying of a neighbor.

District Attorney Albert Foster announced the hearing date yesterday after a coroner's jury found that the dead man, A. Wilhelm Fischer, 37, of Buck Valley, Fulton county, "died as a result of gunshot wounds." The body was found in a field near Fischer's home on August 2.

The murder charge against Hoopengardner was filed by State Police Cpl. William R. Lammie.

Foster said Hoopengardner already has waived a preliminary hearing, and added the hearing Monday would be to determine whether to make the murder charge of the first or second degree. The accused man is being held in the county jail here.

YEGGS SECURE $562,000 IN CUBA HOLDUP

Airports, Ships and Trains Watched for Polite Band Of Robbers That Held Up Havana Bank

NO SHOTS ARE FIRED

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 12—(AP)—Cuban police today sought a polite band of robbers who strolled into a midtown Havana bank yesterday and sauntered out again with $562,000 in cash.

All airports, ships and trains are being watched for the smooth-working bandits who herded 18 persons into a rear room of a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada just after the 3 p. m. closing time, then looted the bank's vault and cashier's cage without being molested.

The robbery was executed by eight or ten men led by one dressed in a policeman's uniform. Although they were armed with pistols and machineguns not a shot was fired.

As the group entered the bank, the uniformed leader politely told the door guard in Spanish:

"These gentlemen are coming in with me—and so are you. Kindly take a place right behind me, and don't try to draw your gun or the gentleman behind me will shoot you full of holes."

They then ordered Branch Manager Esteban Juncadella, 13 other employes, a bank guard and three customers into the rear room.

Juncadella said a preliminary check indicated the thieves took a total of $562,000 in U. S. dollars and Cuban pesos. The peso has the same value as the dollar. He said $365,000 was taken from the vault and the balance from the cashier's window. All of it was in bills of $100, $500 and $1,000 denomination, both Cuban and American.

The robbers left behind 40,000 one peso bills, apparently because of the bulk and $115,000 in other small denomination bills. Evidently they overlooked $15,000 in 500 peso bills.

About a half hour after they entered the bank, the thieves sauntered out, their loot wrapped up in typewriter and adding machine covers.

It was the third bank robbery in Havana's history and the largest.

(On Sept. 17, 1930, the Lincoln, Nebraska, National Bank and Trust Company was robbed of $2,268,700 in cash and negotiable securities. C. A. Sorenson, Nebraska attorney general at that time, said he still believes that was the biggest bank robbery in history.)

ALIQUIPPA WILL TEST WAGE TAX REBELLION

Aliquippa, Aug. 12—(AP)—Borough officials today planned a legal test of the refusal of an ex-burgess to collect a wage tax from the three employes of his drug store.

Solicitor Louis Klein said George L. Kiefer, the former borough official, will be charged soon with violating the four mill wage tax adapted some three months ago. Kiefer, who said he declined to be a tax collector, asked the borough to prosecute him or drop the tax.

In another Beaver county financial tangle, Hopewell township school directors announced they would pay 52 teachers with $20,000 worth of non-interest bearing scrip. The board said it was dead broke until September tax receipts are available.

ANNUAL SHOWER OF METEORS IS VISIBLE

New York, Aug. 12—(AP)—The annual shower of perseid meteors is expected to be visable, beginning tonight, and for the next few nights.

Robert R. Coles, of the Hayden Planetarium, says that as many as 50 "shooting stars" may be counted during a single hour, if cloud conditions are favorable.

Each summer, in the earth's cycle around the sun, it passes through the orbit of the meteors, thousands of which are caught annually in the earth's gravitation and plunge eartnward.

They are extremely small and burn out high in the earth's atmosphere.

Ruth Is Better But Condition Still Critical

New York, Aug. 12—(AP)—Babe Ruth's condition today was reported as improved, but still critical.

A bulletin issued at 9:31 a. m. in Memorial Hospital by Dr. Hayes Martin stated:

"Babe Ruth rallied this morning. His pulse is stronger. Condition improved, although still critical.

The home-run king, greatest long-distance slugger in the history of baseball, has been unwell for two years. He took a sudden turn for the worse yesterday after developing a cold.

The Memorial Hospital center for cancer and allied diseases said he was suffering from "pulmonary complications."

The 53-year-old Babe rallied slightly last night, but the hospital said his condition was "still critical." Early today the hospital said there was "no change."

Only members of his immediate family and a long-time friend, Paul Carey, treasurer of the Babe Ruth Foundation, were permitted in Ruth's hospital room.

Ruth's second wife, Claire, was at his bedside much of the time.

Other members of the family are a sister, Mrs. Wilbur Moberley, and two adopted daughters—Mrs. Dorothy Sullivan and Mrs. Richard Flanders.

Hundreds of messages from the Babe's well-wishers poured into the hospital.

Neighborhood youngsters, in small groups, trooped in from playgrounds to the hospital lobby to ask about the Babe. One group of 20 children brought a bouquet.

Miketish Is Held For Court Action

Smethport, Aug. 12 — (AP) — George Miketish, 28, of Gifford, was held without bail for court action yesterday on charges that he clubbed his 23-year-old wife, Gertrude, to death.

Miketish, who waived a preliminary hearing before Alderman Carroll Clayton at Bradford, was arrested near Eldred on the New York-Pennsylvania line after a telephone operator reported she had seen him walking along a road.

Miketish was charged also with assault with intent to kill his wife's parents and with the theft of an automobile in which he fled Aug. 2.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Leake said Miketish told him after his arrest that he was on his way home to surrender to police. District Attorney C. W. Shattuck of McKean county said Miketish signed a statement in which he said he did not mean to kill his wife.

Mrs. Miketish's father, Darwin Daily, 48, remained in a critical condition today in Bradford Hospital where he was treated for shotgun wounds of the face and chest.

Cigarette Smokers Set a New Record

Washington, Aug. 12 — (AP) — Americans smoked 345,000,000,000 cigarettes during the year ended June 30—another new record.

This was the equivalent of about 121 packs for every man, woman and child. But inasmuch as many persons do not smoke, the number used by smokers averaged much higher than that. How much, no one knows.

Consumption in the previous year—which smashed a record set the year before—totaled 327,000,000,000 cigarettes, or an average of about 119 packs for the population.

The Agriculture Department, which put out these figures today, said another new record is expected during the current year.

Cigarette smoking has increased strikingly since before the war, the department said, as higher purchasing power has tended to boost both consumption per smoker and the number of smokers.

DELAWARE ELECTIONS

Dover, Del., Aug. 1—(AP)—Delaware's Republican convention stuck with the incumbents by nominating U. S. Senator C. Douglas Buck and Rep. J. Caleb Boggs for election.

Subjects Object to His Luxury

Reported to be the second richest man in the world, the Gaekwar of Baroda, left, ruler of a princely state in India, is being urged to abdicate his throne. Led by Premier Dr. Pivrai Mehta, the people have demanded the Gaekwar's resignation, claiming that he spends huge sums on luxurious living while the people are in the grip of a terrible famine. The Gaekwar is shown with wife, the Ranee, and son.

London, Aug. 12 (AP)—The rich maharajah of Baroda took his ease in England today, seemingly in no rush to get back to India to answer critics who want him to abdicate. A member of his household at Headley, in Surrey, said the potentate was still asleep at 10 a. m. today. He arrived on the Queen Elizabeth last night from New York and ducked reporters who wanted to ask him about accusations made by the Baroda state legislature that he dipped into the state treasury for $10,000,000 in a six-week spending spree. The maharajah's secretary said a statement would be issued tomorrow concerning the maharajah's plans.

Record Vote-Getter Is Added To Truman Cabinet In Tobin Acceptance Of Labor Post

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—President Truman added a record vote-getter to his cabinet today and Democratic party aides hoped the newcomer, Maurice J. Tobin, would help coral the labor ballot in November.

Tobin stepped out of the Massachusetts governor's race last night to accept the post of secretary of labor which has been vacant since the death of Lewis B. Schwellenbach June 10.

The 47-year old New Englander brings to Washington a political record in which (1) he twice defeated James M. Curley for mayor of Boston, the stronghold of that veteran Democratic party leader; (2) in winning the Bay State's governorship in 1944, he became the first candidate to top the million-vote-mark in a gubernatorial race there. In fact, Tobin polled 13,000 more votes than the late President Roosevelt received in the state.

Well-liked by union organizations, Tobin was expected to take a major part in the Truman election drive, stressing the Democratic pledge to seek repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The president nominated Tobin last Saturday but the senate did not pass on the appointment in its adjournment rush. However, he will hold down the $15,000 a year job under a recess appointment.

Some other Democrats, meanwhile, fired new broadsides against a Truman legislative program which they branded as oppressive.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina told a cheering States' Rights party launching in Houston last right that Mr. Truman's civil rights program "calls for a police state in this country."

Thurmond and his running mate, Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi, lashed out at the administration and the national Democratic party in their formal speeches accepting nomination on the states' Rights ticket.

Thurmond predicted he would receive more electoral college votes than Mr. Truman.

He told the States' Right meeting "the Democratic convention repudiated the principles of the Democratic party and followed a pattern fashioned by the nominee of the Republican convention x x x in putting the civil rights program in the platform.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee, joined in the attack on the Truman administration. He told the executive committee of the Young Republican National Federation in Albany that the Democrats were resorting to "easy remedies and quack solutions" for the nation's problems.

Offer of $5,500,000 Made For Healy Petroleum Corp.

According to the Oil City Derrick the Healy Petroleum Corporation of Bradford, producer of crude oil from more than 5,400 acres in the Bradford field, has been offered close to $5,500,000 in cash for the common stock of the company.

The interests seeking to purchase the Bradford oil firm have not been revealed, but their identity is expected to be made known within the next few days. It is reported that the firm or persons seeking to buy Healey Petroleum are from the upper part of the Pennsylvania grade crude oil region.

President William J. Healey of Bradford, it has been reported, has agreed to sell all of his shares at $62.50 a share.

The purchaser has agreed to buy shares at the $62.50 price if they are deposited with the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co., Buffalo, N. Y., by the end of this month. It is reported that the purchaser is seeking to purchase at least 70 per cent. of the 85,440 shares which are outstanding.

Incorporated 26 years ago, the Healey Petroleum Corp. has been producing about 500,000 barrels of oil annually. The company has an authorized issue of 100,000 shares of common stock of which 85,440 shares are outstanding.

Ralph Hochstetter of Buffalo is vice-president of the oil firm and Lewis G. Harriman, president of the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co. of Buffalo, is secretary and treasurer.

Traded-over-the-counter, the company's common stock sold as low as $32 this year. The bid price recently jumped to $44 and then to $48 a share, but trade ceased when word went around the offer was to be made.

Agreement on Milk Orders Still Sought

Harrisburg, Aug. 12—(AP)—Pennsylvania's dissenting Milk Control Commission may meet tomorrow to try and reach an agreement on new orders which will boost milk prices 1½ cents a quart.

The commission deadlocked last week when Commissioners John L. Snyder and Charles O'Loughlin favored the 1½ cent increase, while Chairman H. N. Cobb insisted along with dairymen on a 2½ cent rise.

However, Cobb announced last night at Brookville where he is presiding at a milk hearing that he plans to call a meeting of the commission tomorrow to reconsider the problem.

Meanwhile, Snyder reported yesterday that new orders carrying out proposals made by himself and O'Loughlin have been drafted. The orders must be voted on at a formal commission meeting before they can be put into effect.

Brookville, Aug. 12—(AP)—The State Milk Control Commission held a hearing today on a proposal to transfer six western counties from milk marketing area 11 to 9. The counties are Elk, Jefferson, Warren, Forest, McKean, and Cameron; also part of Clarion.

Former Teachers - Students Assemble In Sugar Grove

Sugar Grove, Aug. 12—About 65 former students and teachers with students, gathered Tuesday for the biennial seminary reunion.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed in the home economics house, after which the group adjourned to the school auditorium, or chapel, as the guests speak of it, for a meeting called and conducted by Dr. H. H. Mix, of Galeton.

The session opened with the Lord's prayer, after which the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and several letters from those unable to be present.

As is the custom of each reunion a memorial service was conducted for Dr. R. J. White, and Judge George Jude, of Jamestown, gave a fitting tribute to Dr. White, first principal of the seminary. The speaker referred to Dr. White as an organizer, since he and Rev. John Hill were the men responsible for planning, building and operating the school. He told of his association with Dr. White, remarking that he had helped the principal in planting the maple trees which surround the building, and spoke of the stalwart character and kindliness of the deceased.

Miss Carrie Meredith of Warren, gave the memorial for Prof. Woodland, who passed away since the last meeting Others who have died in the two-year period and mentioned at this time were Mrs. Dora Wilson Davis, Mrs. Caroline Cumming Veness, Mrs. Ada Ruhlman, Dr. Hollister, Miss Olive Wright and Ray Denison.

Officers, all re-elected, were: President, Dr. Mix; vice president, Mrs. Blanche Pickard, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mabel Dallas.

Members were asked to stand and give their names and addresses and those coming the greatest distance were Mrs. Myrtle Stilson Stockton, of Glendale, Calif., and Mrs. Mabel Cobb Hatch, Falls City, Ore.

Mrs. Hatch was asked to tell about the work in which she is currently interested and said that after many years of teaching she and her late husband had taken up the growing of English holly, which they shipped in pound boxes to every state in the union, excepting only Vermont, and Alaska and Hawaii last year.

Mrs. Pickard spoke of a recent call on Miss Margaret Hamilton, who has been ill for the past five years and is a patient in the Hallquist Nursing Home at Falconer, referring to her wonderful courage and spirit.

W. L. Nuttall, of Sherman, talked of Dr. White and his memories of the deceased as a minister in his boyhood home; as teacher, advisor and friend

Many others spoke briefly concerning their seminary days

Dr. Mix conducted an amusing quiz program dividing the group into units and asking Judge Jude to be the judge.

The register showed members present from Jamestown, Mayville, Olean, Kennedy, N. Y., Falls City, Ore; Lakewood, N. J; Glendale, Calif; Beaver, North Warren, Pittsburgh, Warren, Union City, Kersey Bear Lake, Titusville, Tidioute and Bradford

Drilling Resumed In Carter Hill Area

Gas well drilling resumed on Carter Hill again late Tuesday afternoon when the rig owned and operated by a Bradford firm started operations after several weeks of inactivity on the site north of the city.

The new well is being put down on the Alton Peterson property about 1,500 feet northeast of the first and only successful hole drilled by the Pennsylvania Gas Company in its search for additional fuel.

No disposition has yet been made of the second drilling rig which remains idle on Carter Hill. # Former Teachers - Students Assemble In Sugar Grove

Sugar Grove, Aug. 12—About 65 former students and teachers with students, gathered Tuesday for the biennial seminary reunion.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed in the home economics house, after which the group adjourned to the school auditorium, or chapel, as the guests speak of it, for a meeting called and conducted by Dr. H. H. Mix, of Galeton.

The session opened with the Lord's prayer, after which the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and several letters from those unable to be present.

As is the custom of each reunion, a memorial service was conducted for Dr. R. J. White, and Judge George Jude, of Jamestown, gave a fitting tribute to Dr. White, first principal of the seminary. The speaker referred to Dr. White as an organizer, since he and Rev. John Hill were the men responsible for planning, building and operating the school. He told of his association with Dr. White, remarking that he had helped the principal in planting the maple trees which surround the building, and spoke of the stalwart character and kindliness of the deceased.

Mrs. Carrie Meredith, of Warren, gave the memorial for Prof. Woodland, who passed away since the last meeting. Others who have died in the two-year period and mentioned at this time were Mrs. Dora Wilson Davis, Mrs. Caroline Cumming Veness, Mrs. Ada Ruhlman, Dr. Hollister, Miss Olive Wright and Ray Denison.

Officers, all re-elected, were: President, Dr. Mix; vice president, Mrs. Blanche Pickard; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mabel Dallas.

Members were asked to stand and give their names and addresses and those coming the greatest distance were Mrs. Myrtie Stilson Stockton, of Glendale, Calif., and Mrs. Mabel Cobb Hatch, Falls City, Ore.

Mrs. Hatch was asked to tell about the work in which she is currently interested and said that after many years of teaching she and her late husband had taken up the growing of English holly, which they shipped in pound boxes to every state in the union, excepting only Vermont, and Alaska and Hawaii last year.

Mrs. Pickard spoke of a recent call on Miss Margaret Hamilton, who has been ill for the past five years and is a patient in the Hallquist Nursing Home at Falconer, referring to her wonderful courage and spirit.

W. L. Nuttall, of Sherman, talked of Dr. White and his memories of the deceased as a minister in his boyhood home; as teacher, advisor and fritnd.

Many others spoke briefly concerning their seminary days.

Dr. Mix conducted an amusing quiz program, dividing the group into units and asking Judge Jude to be the judge.

The register showed members present from Jamestown, Mayville, Olean, Kennedy, N. Y., Falls City, Ore.; Lakewood, N. J.; Glendale, Calif.; Beaver, North Warren, Pittsburgh, Warren, Union City, Kersey, Bear Lake, Titusville, Tidioute and Bradford.

Drilling Resumed in Carter Hill Area

Gas well drilling resumed on Carter Hill again late Tuesday afternoon when the rig owned and operated by a Bradford firm started operations after several weeks of inactivity on the site north of the city.

The new well is being put down on the Alton Peterson property about 1,500 feet northeast of the first and only successful hole drilled by the Pennsylvania Gas Company in its search for additional fuel.

No disposition has yet been made of the second drilling rig which remains idle on Carter Hill. When the Bradford equipment was moved in last month, it immediately led to the speculation that both rigs would soon be operating at once, but so far the PGC has given no definite announcement that a sixth well will be started.

Membership In 60 A. A. A. Clubs Nearing 300,000 Mark

Reporting that motoring organizations are becoming more popular, useful and protective for car owners, A. A. Albaugh, president of the Warren County Motor Club today pointed out that membership in the 60 AAA automobile clubs in the State affiliated with the Pennsylvania Motor Federation has passed the 300,000-mark.

Mr. Albaugh also reported that membership in the Warren County Motor Club is now at an all-time high record of 1282 members, making it the largest civic organization in the community.

"Organized in 1906," the AAA official stated, "the Pennsylvania Motor Federation has grown steadily throughout the years, keeping pace with motoring in the Commonwealth until today it is the largest State organization of motorists in the world. Total membership in the State's AAA automobile clubs was 301,036, as of June 30.

"The figure compares to 177,333 members at the close of the Federation's fiscal year on April 1, 1943," Mr. Albaugh said. "On April 1, 1938, total membership in PMF-AAA clubs was 157,798 which discloses that membership was nearly doubled in a ten-year period.

"The reason that more motorists are enrolling in the AAA seems to be that car owners are finding a need for organized help in the economical operation of their automobiles," he stated.

"As in the past," he concluded, "the American Automobile Association, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and each affiliated automobile club will continue to be the champion of motorist legislation and to fight for the best interests of motorists in all matters."

Home sewing has increased about 130 per cent over the figure five years ago

Yanks Show Their Power At Olympics

London, Aug. 12—(AP)—Surprising American power in sports which Europeans regard as their own promised today to make the Olympic games now coming to a close one of the U. S. A.'s brightest.

A sparkling team victory in weight-lighting and a possible one in yachting, an individual championship in canoeing and good showings in sabre and equestrian events are now piled on top of sweeps in men's track and swimming and bright records in crew and women's swimming.

The games of the fourteenth Olympiad close Saturday.

In basketball, however, the Americans have been surprised, and they like it. They came over here bent on being salesmen of the sport, playing under wraps, but the competition is tougher and rougher than anyone expected.

Last night the U. S. basketball team reached the Friday finals by beating Mexico, 71 to 40, but at the start it was a good ball game until the superior height and strength of the American reserves told. France is the other finalist.

Meanwhile American weightlifters, for the first time in the game's history, won the team championship, which is figured on an unofficial basis. They took four first places to two for Egypt.

American boxers, however, are having their difficulties. Only four survived to the quarterfinal round. They were Jay Lambert, University of Utah heavyweight; Horace Herring, St. Petersburg, Fla., welterweight; Wallace Smith, Cincinnati lightweight, and Edward Hanson, Kansas City featherweight.

SHORT FIRE, LONG RUN
The Franklin Fire Department had a run almost to its back door—but made the circuit half way 'round the block—when fire was reported at the rear of the Franklin Decorating Company store, 70 feet distant. Employes of the Ibbs garage, operating a paint shop in the room adjacent to the decorating store room, started a fire in the furnace. Soot caught fire.

REACH AGREEMENT
The United Steel Workers of America, Union No. 2706, and the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company at Franklin, signed an agreement on Tuesday afternoon, providing for a 13-cents-an-hour wage increase, retroactive to July 7. # Membership In 60 A. A. A. Clubs Nearing 300,000 Mark

Reporting that motoring organizations are becoming more popular, useful and protective for car owners, A. A. Albaugh, president of the Warren County Motor Club today pointed out that membership in the 60 AAA automobile clubs in the State affiliated with the Pennsylvania Motor Federation has passed the 300,000-mark.

Mr. Albaugh also reported that membership in the Warren County Motor Club is now at an all-time high record of 1282 members, making it the largest civic organization in the community.

"Organized in 1906," the AAA official stated, "the Pennsylvania Motor Federation has grown steadily throughout the years, keeping pace with motoring in the Commonwealth until today it is the largest State organization of motorists in the world. Total membership in the State's AAA automobile clubs was 301,036, as of June 30.

"The figure compares to 177,333 members at the close of the Federation's fiscal year on April 1, 1943," Mr. Albaugh said. "On April 1, 1938, total membership in PMF-AAA clubs was 157,798 which discloses that membership was nearly doubled in a ten-year period.

"The reason that more motorists are enrolling in the AAA seems to be that car owners are finding a need for organizzed help in the economical operation of their automobiles," he stated.

"As in the past," he concluded, "the American Automobile Association, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and each affiliated automobile club will continue to be the champion of motorist legislation and to fight for the best interests of motorists in all matters."

Home sewing has increased about 130 per cent over the figure five years ago.

Yanks Show Their Power At Olympics

London, Aug. 12—(AP)—Surprising American power in sports which Europeans regard as their own promised today to make the Olympic games now coming to a close one of the U. S. A.'s brightest.

A sparkling team victory in weight-lighting and a possible one in yachting, an individual championship in canoeing and good showings in sabre and equestrian events are now piled on top of sweeps in men's track and swimming and bright records in crew and women's swimming.

The games of the fourteenth Olympiad close Saturday.

In basketball, however, the Americans have been surprised, and they like it. They came over here bent on being salesmen of the sport, playing under wraps, but the competition is tougher and rougher than anyone expected.

Last night the U. S. basketball team reached the Friday finals by beating Mexico, 71 to 40, but at the start it was a good ball game until the superior height and strength of the American reserves told. France is the other finalist.

Meanwhile American weightlifters, for the first time in the game's history, won the team championship, which is figured on an unofficial basis. They took four first places to two for Egypt.

American boxers, however, are having their difficulties. Only four survived to the quarterfinal round. They were Jay Lambert, University of Utah heavyweight; Horace Herring, St. Petersburg, Fla., welterweight; Wallace Smith, Cincinnati lightweight, and Edward Hanson, Kansas City featherweight.

CROPS AND PRICES

In the opinion of crop experts in Washington farmers are well on their way toward supplying a cure for high prices for their own products.

Aided by very favorable weather, they are headed for a crop harvest which is expected not only to break all production records but to end food shortages and, in time, bring lower prices at the corner stores.

An agricultural department report yesterday forecast this year's grain production as the largest ever—by a wide margin. No longer is there a grain shortage. In fact there will be a surplus if latest estimates are borne out.

This bountiful prospect already has led to a sharp decline in grain prices from the post war peak of last January.

Officials said a similar decline in prices of meats, dairy and poultry products will follow as soon as farmers can convert the grains—through livestock feedings—into these finished food items. The effects of this conversion should begin to be felt, they said, no later than next spring.

The department report included the forecast of an amazing corn crop of 3,506,000,000 bushels. This tops the 1946 record by 257,000,000 bushels and last year's very poor one by 1,106,000,000.

The boost in feed supplies will not be limited to corn. Near record crops of oats, and grain sorghums, far-above average crops of barley and an average crop of hay indicate that feed supplies will be the most liberal in history for the livestock available.

But while all this spells good news for housewives, it indicates trouble ahead for the government.

Farmers are increasing livestock and poultry numbers, but they will not be able to build up flocks and herds enough to use all the feeds that are forecast.

As a result, much corn and other grains will be offered the government under its price support program. It is not at all unlikely that a year from now the government will have more than $1,000,000,000 tied up in surplus grains, cotton, tobacco, and other crops from this year's harvest.

TROUBLE FOR INDIAN PRINCE

An Associated Press dispatch in the Times-Mirror yesterday reminds that India's bejeweled Maharajahs, no longer made secure on their golden thrones through England's support, are racing down the broad highway to oblivion—and some of them are making an Arabian Nights exit.

The legislature of Baroda accuses its ruler, Maharajah Pratapsinha Gaekwar, of misappropriating and misusing nearly $10,000,000 in state funds on a six-week spending spree, while part of his principality was suffering from hunger. It demands that he abdicate.

The 42-year-old prince is reputed to be the second richest man in India—runner-up to the Nizam of Hyderabad who is held by many to be the world's wealthiest individual.

The Maharajah has just completed a visit to the United States and when he sailed for England he was loaded with jewels whose value he couldn't even estimate. He owns one of the biggest racing stables in Britain, but he didn't know how many horses were in it.

Well, probably such vast possessions are confusing. However, the only thing that should matter is whether his highness is serving his people well.

It's too bad that the State of Baroda should figure in such an upheaval, for that was the principality of the late, world famous Gaekwar of Baroda—a great humanitarian who lived for his people. The present ruler is Gaekwar's grandson.

The Maharajah was reached by The Associated Press through radio-telephone aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth, enroute to England, and he scoffed at the charges. He said he planned to fly back to India shortly, but declined to say what he would do about the demand that he abdicate.

The moral of our story is this: Irrespective of how the charges of the Baroda legislature may turn out, they are symptomatic of a changed India. The Princes of India are on their way out; their day is done. We shall lose a splash of barbaric color from the world picture, but it is better so.

Those who served with and under Major (later Colonel and General) Charles B. Smathers are gratified to learn that belated recognition has come to this kindly and efficient officer of the old 112th Infantry. The two weeks' National Guard encampment at Indiantown Gap was designated this week as "Camp Charles B. Smathers," the former Grove City teacher who rose to the highest rank which Pennsylvania's National Guard could bestow.

Does Anyone Know the Answer To This One?

H-E-R-E A-N-D T-H-E-R-E

For folks who are superstitious enough to believe that the combination of Friday, the 13th, is unlucky, the following from Boy's Life, should prove a little reassuring: "In the Great Seal of the U. S. there are 13 stars, 13 stripes, 13 arrows in the Eagle's talon, 13 berries on the branch, 13 feathers in each wing and 13 feathers in the tail." The Magazine Judge, offers the following on the subject which makes timely and interesting reading at this time:

Friday, the 13th, April 1906; quake struck Tarwan. Friday the 13th, Sept. 1915: steamship Lusitania began its ill-fated voyage. Friday the 13th, April 1923: huge tidal wave hit coast of Korea. And then, again: The first telephone line for business purposes was opened on Friday the 13th (April 1877). Electric lighting was first tried in London on Friday the 13th (Dec. 1878). The first American unit pushed its way into Aachen, Germany on Friday the 13th, Oct. 1944. Friday the 13th? There's no need to be leery of it. Good and bad come on that day, as on any other.

Warren sports followers will be interested in the announcement that Babe Didrickson Zaharias, destined to become an immortal among women athletes, is booked to appear at the Municipal Stadium in Jamestown August 18, when the Falcons will play Hornell in regularly scheduled PONY league game. The babe, who appeared in Warren as a star attraction at a basketball game at Beaty court some ten years ago, it is expected, will be accompanied by her husband George Zaharias, former contender for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship. Mrs Zaharias will take batting and infield practice with the Hornell team after an extensive exhibition of golf shots during which she chips balls into a circle in the outfield, displays driving and putting technique and winds up with a brief golf clinic.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening prospective Dragon football players will be examined by the school physician, and Monday and Tuesday those who are accepted will receive their equipment. In the meantime Warren High, along with all other public school athletes are awaiting the August 18 opening of practice sessions, the harbinger of another grid season. Member schools of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association are not allowed to begin training drills before that date, nor schedule games earlier than September 10th. Association rules prohibit contests before three full weeks of condition sessions. More than1,000 high schools in the state than 1,000 high schools in the state observe its regulations. Incidentally high school footballers this season will play under a new rule code, revised to bring the standards of college and school games closer. The code, worked out jointly by the National High School Athletic Association and the Intercollegiate Football Rules committee, was unexpectedly rejected by the latter organization. PIAA secretary, Edward Wicht, says, however, that High school teams would use the revised regulations.

Little can be added to what Joe Gardner has already written and has prepared about Saturday's big Old-Timers' Day program at the Warren State Hospital athletic field. Kiwanis Club officials and committees have been working hard along with Joe to make the event a success, both financially, because it is for the very worthy Crippled Children's Fund, as well as from an entertainment standpoint. Fans interested in helping to aid the fund, and planning to see the program, are urged to secure tickets before Saturday, although they will be on sale at the field. Give the Crippled Children's Fund a boost!

This and That: Paul L. Barclay, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Police, with headquarters in Erie, who has participated in numerous investigations in Warren county, laid up at home for nine months since a heart attack last October, is planning to get back on the job early in September; Don Scalise, one of the mainstays on the East Side team in the Junior League, found himself ineligible to play in the important game with Clarendon Tuesday evening, because it was his 19th birthday; incidentally, that pitcher's mound on the Clarendon diamond is everything the word implies—as a matter of fact it really is a hill; makes a fellow dizzy to watch that janitor washing the outside of windows on the top floor of the Warren Bank & Trust Company building; the Mutual Broadcasting System is dipping behind the scenes of the All-Star football game at Chicago next week with two special "previews"—one on August 16 at 10:30 and another August 19, at 11:30 p. m.

CROPS AND PRICES

In the opinion of crop experts in Washington farmers are well on their way toward supplying a cure for high prices for their own products.

Aided by very favorable weather, they are headed for a crop harvest which is expected not only to break all production records but to end food shortages and, in time, bring lower prices at the corner stores.

An agricultural department report yesterday forecast this year's grain production as the largest ever—by a wide margin. No longer is there a grain shortage. In fact there will be a surplus if latest estimates are borne out.

This bountiful prospect already has led to a sharp decline in grain prices from the post war peak of last January.

Officials said a similar decline in prices of meats, dairy and poultry products will follow as soon as farmers can convert the grains—through livestock feedings—into these finished food items. The effects of this conversion should begin to be felt, they said, no later than next spring.

The department report included the forecast of an amazing corn crop of 3,506,000,000 bushels. This tops the 1946 record by 257,000,000 bushels and last year's very poor one by 1,106,000,000.

The boost in feed supplies will not be limited to corn. Near record crops of oats, and grain sorghums, far-above average crops of barley and an average crop of hay indicate that feed supplies will be the most liberal in history for the livestock available.

But while all this spells good news for housewives, it indicates trouble ahead for the government.

Farmers are increasing livestock and poultry numbers, but they will not be able to build up flocks and herds enough to use all the feeds that are forecast.

As a result, much corn and other grains will be offered the government under its price support program. It is not at all unlikely that a year from now the government will have more than $1,000,000,000 tied up in surplus grains, cotton, tobacco, and other crops from this year's harvest.

TROUBLE FOR INDIAN PRINCE

An Associated Press dispatch in the Times-Mirror yesterday reminds that India's bejeweled Maharajahs, no longer made secure on their golden thrones through England's support, are racing down the broad highway to oblivion—and some of them are making an Arabian Nights exit.

The legislature of Baroda accuses its ruler, Maharajah Pratapsinha Gaekwar, of misappropriating and misusing nearly $10,000,000 in state funds on a six-week spending spree, while part of his principality was suffering from hunger. It demands that he abdicate.

The 42-year-old prince is reputed to be the second richest man in India—runner-up to the Nizam of Hyderabad who is held by many to be the world's wealthiest individual.

The Maharajah has just completed a visit to the United States and when he sailed for England he was loaded with jewels whose value he couldn't even estimate. He owns one of the biggest racing stables in Britain, but he didn't know how many horses were in it.

Well, probably such vast possessions are confusing. However, the only thing that should matter is whether his highness is serving his people well.

It's too bad that the State of Baroda should figure in such an upheaval, for that was the principality of the late, world famous Gaekwar of Baroda—a great humanitarian who lived for his people. The present ruler is Gaekwar's grandson.

The Maharajah was reached by The Associated Press through radio-telephone aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth, enroute to England, and he scoffed at the charges. He said he planned to fly back to India shortly, but declined to say what he would do about the demand that he abdicate.

The moral of our story is this: Irrespective of how the charges of the Baroda legislature may turn out, they are symptomatic of a changed India. The Princes of India are on their way out; their day is done. We shall lose a splash of barbaric color from the world picture, but it is better so.

Those who served with and under Major (later Colonel and General) Charles B. Smathers are gratified to learn that belated recognition has come to this kindly and efficient officer of the old 112th Infantry. The two weeks' National Guard encampment at Indiantown Gap was designated this week as "Camp Charles B. Smathers," the former Grove City teacher who rose to the highest rank which Pennsylvania's National Guard could bestow.

H-E-R-E A-N-D T-H-E-R-E

For folks who are superstitious enough to believe that the combination of Friday, the 13th, is unlucky, the following from Boy's Life, should prove a little reassuring: "In the Great Seal of the U. S. there are 13 stars, 13 stripes, 13 arrows in the Eagle's talon, 13 berries on the branch, 13 feathers in each wing and 13 feathers in the tail." The Magazine Judge, offers the following on the subject which makes timely and interesting reading at this time:

Friday, the 13th, April 1906; quake struck Taiwan. Friday the 13th, Sept. 1915: steamship Lusitania began its ill-fated voyage. Friday the 13th, April 1923: huge tidal wave hit coast of Korea. And then, again: The first telephone line for business purposes was opened on Friday the 13th (April 1877). Electric lighting was first tried in London on Friday the 13th (Dec. 1878). The first American unit pushed its way into Aachen, Germany on Friday the 13th, Oct. 1944. Friday the 13th? There's no need to be leery of it. Good and bad come on that day, as on any other.

Warren sports followers will be interested in the announcement that Babe Didrickson Zaharias, destined to become an immortal among women athletes, is booked to appear at the Municipal Stadium in Jamestown August 18, when the Falcons will play Hornell in regularly scheduled PONY league game. The babe, who appeared in Warren as a star attraction at a basketball game at Beaty court some ten years ago, it is expected, will be accompanied by her husband George Zaharias, former contender for the world's heavyweight wrestling chamionship. Mrs. Zaharias will take batting and infield practice with the Hornell team after an extensive exhibition of golf shots during which she chips balls into a circle in the outfield, displays driving and putting technique and winds up with a brief golf clinic.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening prospective Dragon football players will be examined by the school physician, and Monday and Tuesday those who are accepted will receive their equipment. In the meantime Warren High, along with all other public school athletes are awaiting the August 18 opening of practice sessions, the harbinger of another grid season. Member schools of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association are not allowed to begin training drills before that date, nor schedule games earlier than September 10th. Association rules prohibit contests before three full weeks of condition sessions. More than1,000 high schools in the state than 1,000 high schools in the state observe its regulations. Incidentally high school footballers this season will play under a new rule code, revised to bring the standards of college and school games closer. The code, worked out jointly by the National High School Athletic Association and the Intercollegiate Football Rules committee, was unexpectedly rejected by the latter organization. PIAA secretary, Edward Wicht, says, however, that High school teams would use the revised regulations.

Little can be added to what Joe Gardner has already written and has prepared about Saturday's big Old-Timers' Day program at the Warren State Hospital athletic field. Kiwanis Club officials and committees have been working hard along with Joe to make the event a success, both financially, because it is for the very worthy Crippled Children's Fund, as well as from an entertainment standpoint. Fans interested in helping to aid the fund, and planning to see the program, are urged to secure tickets before Saturday, although they will be on sale at the field. Give the Crippled Children's Fund a boost!

This and That: Paul L. Barclay, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Police, with headquarters in Erie, who has participated in numerous investigations in Warren county, laid up at home for nine months since a heart attack last October, is planning to get back on the job early in September; Don Scalise, one of the mainstays on the East Side team in the Junior League, found himself ineligible to play in the important game with Clarendon Tuesday evening, because it was his 19th birthday; incidentally, that pitcher's mound on the Clarendon diamond is everything the word implies—as a matter of fact it really is a hill; makes a fellow dizzy to watch that janitor washing the outside of windows on the top floor of the Warren Bank & Trust Company building; the Mutual Broadcasting System is dipping behind the scenes of the All-Star football game at Chicago next week with two special "previews"—one on August 16 at 10:30 and another August 19, at 11:30 p. m.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

1923

The quaint and pleasant interior of the Orleta tea room in the old MacKay home on Third avenue was enhanced last evening when it became necessary to serve dinner by candlelight after the torrential rains had damaged the power lines.

The Deerhorn Club, with A. J. Burhen as chief master of ceremonies, consisting of fifteen well known Warren men, will leave Warren Monday morning at 7:30 in their special Pullman over the New York Central for the two weeks camping trip at Pine Lake, Ontario, Canada. Mrs. H. F. Bell, of Melrose Place, the well known local cateress, is to be in charge of the culinary department during the camp.

Considerable damage to crops in the county especially in the vicinity of North Warren and Jackson Run, resulted from the severe electrical and rain storm that was general throughout this vicinity yesterday afternoon. In some instances entire fields of grain were whipped to the ground.

1938

Postponed a few weeks ago because of the heavy rainfall, the annual Warren Day observance at Celoron on the shores of Chautauqua will be conducted Sunday Aug. 14 with an even more elaborate program than that which had been planned for the original date.

Mrs. H. M. Huber, of Locust street entertained this week at two delightful parties honoring Mrs. C. P. Exas, of Kilgore, Texas, who is visiting here.

Local Industry Exhibits To Feature Pennsylvania Week

Harrisburg—Six communities of the State have already announced plans to hold industrial shows in connection with the state-wide celebration of Pennsylvania Week, Sept. 26 through Oct. 2, and a number of other communities are known to have such activities under consideration.

State Secretary of Commerce Orus J. Matthews said that the localities where such activities have been announced are: Coatesville, Donora, Latrobe, Phoenixville, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre.

He added that there have been indications that industrial shows may also be held at various other places, including Canonsburg, Connellsville, Erie, Homestead, Lancaster and Wilkinsburg, but that nothing definite concerning these has yet been announced.

There is to be an industrial show at Reading this year, Matthews said, but this is being held in connection with the Reading-Berks County Bicentennial celebration, Aug. 14 through Sept. 6 and not relating directly to the Pennsylvania Week program.

The 23-day industrial show at Reading will be a highlight of the community's year-long bi-centennial celebration, occupying 39,000 square feet of exhibit space in buildings of the Reading Fairgrounds, and will include goodwill exhibits furnished by 17 firms from Reading, England.

The Coatesville Chamber of Commerce has announced that 24 industrial firms of that area have agreed to furnish exhibits for an industrial exhibition to be held in Coatesville from Tuesday, Sept. 28, through Friday, Oct. 1, probably in the Scott Senior High School gymnasium. The Donora Chamber of Commerce is planning an exhibit of the products of local industries during Pennsylvania Week. They are considering the renting of several storerooms for such a display or possibly the use of store windows.

An industrial exhibition at Latrobe, featuring the goods manufactured by local industry is being planned by the Latrobe Chamber of Commerce.

Retail merchants of Phoenixville plan to sponsor a trade show there during the last week of September, to be held in cooperation with the Phoenixville Chamber of Commerce.

The Scranton Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring "Better Homes" Show in the Watres Armory, Scranton, beginning on Saturday, Sept. 25, and continuing through Pennsylvania Week. Seymour Nogi has been named general chairman.

The industrial show planned by the Wyoming Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce, Wilkes-Barre, is to be held in the Armory at Kingston during the entire week preceding Pennsylvania Week.

GLF at Bear Lake Planning Annual Meet

Bear Lake—Patrons of the Bear Lake G. L. F. Service will hold their annual meeting in a tent at Cornish's ice cream stand on Bear Lake, on Thursday, August 19, starting at 8:30 p. m., Carlton Curtis, local committee chairman, announced today.

District Manager Ray Rider, of Corry, will report on last year's operations of G. L. F., and the program will include a full-color, sound motion picture entitled "From These Roots," which depicts the story of how farmers have worked together from the barn raisings of early days on down to their modern cooperatives which they use to secure their farm production supplies and to sell farm products. The movie was largely filmed in Central New York locations.

Other reports on local G. L. F. matters have been scheduled. Patrons will have an opportunity to discuss G. L. F. policies. An interesting and varied entertainment program is being planned.

Three committeemen will be elected to the Patrons' Committee to succed George Fowler, Niobe, and Alphonso Cornish, Bear Lake, whose terms are expiring and to fill unexpired terms of Jess Scheller, North Clymer. Carlton Curtis, Columbus, Robert Scott and E. B. Cornish, Jr, of Bear Lake, continue as committeemen. Harold Pelton is the local store-manager.

Chairman Curtis pointed out that local patrons' annual meetings provide farmer-members with the machinery for controlling their cooperative. Local committeemen elected at these meetings not only determine policies for G. L. F. operations in the community, but also play an important part in deciding polities of the Cooperative G. L. F. Exchange system which is used by more than 83,000 farmers in New York, New Jersey and Northern Pennsylvania.

Driver Education - training For High School Juniors

Members of the junior class of Warren High School will have driver education and driver training as an additional class subject, starting with the fall term in September.

About half of the class will be scheduled for the first semester; the others in the second semester, and the training will be given in two parts: Regular classroom work and behind-the-wheel instruction.

The classroom work will be given once a day on two week days, possibly Tuesday and Thursday, and will follow the course suggested by the National Commission on Safety Education and the American Automobile Association.

The Warren County Motor Club is furnishing the textbooks and tests needed, and will also provide tests to help the students know their physical traits as they affect driving.

The tests will be given to each student as part of the classroom work. They consist of devices operated individually by the student taking the test. The visual acuity test is to test a student's vision and the "field of vision" test determines how far on either side the student can see when he is looking ahead.

The depth perception test measures a student's ability to make proper judgment of space and distance, errors in this ability being responsible for many accidents. A glare resistance test will help the student plan his night driving, and a reaction time device will determine the time it takes him to apply his brakes. A knowledge of these abilities and how they affect his driving will help to make him a safer driver.

Behind-the-wheel instruction, or road work in a car, will be given as many students as is possible and it is hoped that about half of the class may be so trained. If the demand proves too great, school authorities state, preference will be given to those not having a license and to those having a car available in the family.

School board, at its last meeting, agreed to accept the offer of the B & E Chevrolet Company to furnish a car through the AAA agreement.

This car will be equipped with dual controls and will be plainly marked to show that it is being used for driver training so that other motorists may show consideration for the beginning drivers.

Not more than four students can be accommodated at one time and Principal Floyd Bathurst has plans for scheduling their work during the school day.

James E. Springer, member of the high school social studies department, has been chosen to take charge of the new work and Warren is fortunate in having such a teacher available for this important instruction.

Mr. Springer's years of experience in the classroom and as a former member of the Pennsylvania State Police give him an excellent background. In addition, he has only recently completed a semester of study at the New York University Safety Education Center and the Columbia University AAA Seminar. School board granted him a sabbatical leave for this preparation and he is most enthusiastic about this opportunity to improve driving conditions in Warren.

Borough council has approved the use of Central avenue for the driver-training program, Mr. Springer cooperating with the police department in its use.

Driving in traffic and hill-and-dale driving will complete the course behind-the-wheel.

ASSIGNED TO SHIP

Marshall Myers, Jr., MM/FA, who has been enjoying a six-day leave with his family in Youngsville, left Tuesday evening for Norfolk, Va., where he has been assigned to the USS Kliensmith. With him was a buddy, James Newark, MM/FA, who spent part of his leave at Bill's home before reporting for duty aboard the USS Montague at Norfolk. Both boys were recently graduated from machinist's mate school at Great Lakes naval training station.

The first chairs were symbols of authority and hence usually were, in effect, thrones.

Second World War Turning Into a Literary Success

By HAL BOYLE

New York,—(AP)—The second world war, which optimists hope will go down as the last great war on earth, already has turned out to be a literary success.

The continuing post-operative interest in this vast battle of the nations has confounded publishers, and left a number red-faced. They are the ones who rejected good war books because they felt the public was sick of hearing about the subject.

Perhaps the public ought to be, but it isn't. It is only sick of hearing platitudes about the war. It still wants to find out what really happened.

Two of the top dramatic hits on Broadway today are William Wister Haines' "Command Decision" and Thomas Heggen's "Mister Roberts". What is the current best selling book of fiction? "The Naked and the Dead," an earthy picture of Pacific fighting by Norman Mailer, a young Brooklyn ex-soldier.

Topping the non-fiction list is "The Gathering Storm," by Winston Churchill, a lifelong student of military weather. Another best seller for weeks has been "The Stillwell Papers," the distilled spirits of tart Gen. "Vinegar Joe".

The memoirs of Cordell Hull, former secretary of war Henry L Stimson, and Gen. George Patton also have been selling in the manner hot cakes are supposed to. And the memoirs are really only beginning to roll from the presses. Stepping up to the book plate next is General Ike himself.

By innings:

The high level men of our times have been franker in their memoirs than has been customary in other post-war periods. The behind the scenes frictions they have disclosed have shocked and surprised many of the combat men who thought the only fighting in war took place on the battlefield.

But nobody fought the same war. The war the platoon scout fights is different from the war the battalion leader knows. So is the war fought by the regimental colonel and the war fought by the army commander. To know any war you would have to talk to every man who had a part in it, and that is impossible.

But it is possible to experience the feeling common to all wars. This is the function of a real writer. Stephen Crane gave the shock of battle in his memorable "Red Badge of Courage." Erich Maria Remarque told of the impact of war on the soul of fighting men in what is to me the finest war book ever written, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

To know how men in all branches of the service lived during the last war I believe the best single source is the collected dispatches of Ernie Pyle.

A man once described war as "long stretches of utter boredom broken by short periods of excitement or danger." What the boredom means probably never has been better shown than in "Mister Roberts," the story of a battle-anxious young naval lieutenant aboard a cargo ship that never got to the war zone.

The second World War looks like it will be the most written-about war in our history. But it may take it a century to catch up with the Civil War. Gettysburg still means more than Bastogne to the circulating library trade.

Duck and Dog Are Real Pals

Strange pals are Sammy, a black cocker spaniel, and Joe, a duck, who spend all their time together. Owned by A. F. Schofield, of Parsons, Kan., the two are seldom separated by more than a few feet. Joe is half mallard and half white tame duck.

Car Industry Will Do Well To Equal Record of 1947

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit,—(AP)—The car industry will do well if it equals this year the total output of 4,800,000 vehicles attained in 1947.

Right now production is about 10 days ahead of the Volume recorded at this time last year but there is no certainty the industry can hold that margin. Besides continuing materials shortages the factories have a lot of new model work to cut into assemblies.

It has been reported in some industry quarters that several companies will try to get new models in production without halting assembly lines. This might be done where unused assembly lines are available; two substantially different types of cars cannot be built on the same conveyors.

Most of the 1949 models to be put into production during the remainder of this year will differ materially from those now being shipped. Cadillac, the Oldsmobile "Futuramic," Packard and Hudson may not be changed much in appearance, but GM'S Buick, Chevrolet and Pontiac reportedly are readying drastc alteratons as are the several Chrysler divisions.

Nash, plannng a "completely new car" already is closed down for its switch-over. New model programs always are subject to last minute changes but it appears likely now that October will see the new Nash cars and Cadillac's 1949 types.

Buick may show its re-designed models in November and the new Chevrolet and Pontiac models, going into production in December probably will be shown in January

Chrysler has given not even hint regarding its model planning, but sources usually well informed believe the 1949 Plymouths, Dodges, De Sotos and Chryslers will be introduced next February.

General Motors' Oldsmobile division, of course, is expected to restyle its "dynamic" models, known as the "60" and "70" series cars. A V-8 higher compression engine of increased horsepower probably will be installed in the "futuramic" series.

Rumors has it the new Buick will be a completely redesigned car. Although there has been no specific announcement to that effect, the torque converted transmission probably will be offered as optional equipment on the "50" or super model series.

Chevrolet's planning is aroused considerable speculation in trade quarters. So far this year the GM divisions has produced about 470,000 passenger cars and 240,000 trucks. This compares with 425,000 cars and about 180,000 trucks built during the same period last year.

Actually neither Chevrolet nor any other car builder needs new models at this time to stimulate interest. But many months of planning needed to get a new model from the drafting board to the assembly lines. The new 1949 models were started on the sketching boards long before anybody in the industry knew how long the unfilled order bank would hold up.

Trade quarters gossip has it the new Chevrolet also will be new from the road up, with wider and longer body, entirely new front end treatment and roomier interior.

Current indications are it will be given its premiere at New York's Waldorf Astoria the latter part of January.

PUBLIC LANDS

More than 3,146,000 acres, or approximately one-ninth of all Pennsylvania land, is now publicly owned, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out. This does not include the grounds occupied by state hospitals, state educational institutions, and other public buildings, nor the approximately 41,000 acres of military reservations.

EARLY INSURANCE

Prior to 1762, there was no life insurance, although there usually was insurance against loss of a crop or of a ship adventuring across the seas.

Second World War Turning Into a Literary Success

By HAL BOYLE

New York,—(AP)—The second world war, which optimists hope will go down as the last great war on earth, already has turned out to be a literary success.

The continuing post-operative interest in this vast battle of the nations has confounded publishers, and left a number red-faced. They are the ones who rejected good war books because they felt the public was sick of hearing about the subject.

Perhaps the public ought to be, but it isn't. It is only sick of hearing platitudes about the war. It still wants to find out what really happened.

Two of the top dramatic hits on Broadway today are William Wister Haines' "Command Decision" and Thomas Heggen's "Mister Roberts". What is the current best selling book of fiction? "The Naked and the Dead," an earthy picture of Pacific fighting by Norman Mailer, a young Brooklyn ex-soldier.

Topping the non-fiction list is "The Gathering Storm," by Winston Churchill, a lifelong student of military weather. Another best seller for weeks has been "The Stillwell Papers," the distilled spirits of tart Gen. "Vinegar Joe".

The memoirs of Cordell Hull, former secretary of war Henry L. Stimson, and Gen. George Patton also have been selling in the manner hot cakes are supposed to. And the memoirs are really only beginning to roll from the presses. Stepping up to the book plate next is General Ike himself.

By innings:

The high level men of our times have been franker in their memoirs than has been customary in other post-war periods. The behind the scenes frictions they have disclosed have shocked and surprised many of the combat men who thought the only fighting in war took place on the battlefield.

But nobody fought the same war. The war the platoon scout fights is different from the war the battalion leader knows. So is the war fought by the regimental colonel and the war fought by the army commander. To know any war you would have to talk to every man who had a part in it, and that is impossible.

But it is possible to experience the feeling common to all wars. This is the function of a real writer. Stephen Crane gave the shock of battle in his memorable "Red Badge of Courage." Erich Haria Remarque told of the impact of war on the soul of fighting men in what is to me the finest war book ever written, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

To know how men in all branches of the service lived during the last war I believe the best single source is the collected dispatches of Ernie Pyle.

A man once described war as "long stretches of utter boredom broken by short periods of excitement or danger." What the boredom means probably never has been better shown than in "Mister Roberts," the story of a battle-anxious young naval lieutenant aboard a cargo ship that never got to the war zone.

The second World War looks like it will be the most written-about war in our history. But it may take it a century to catch up with the Civil War. Gettysburg still means more than Bastogne to the circulating library trade.

Duck and Dog Are Real Pals

Car Industry Will Do Well To Equal Record of 1947

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit,—(AP)—The car industry will do well if it equals this year the total output of 4,800,000 vehicles attained in 1947.

Right now production is about 10 days ahead of the Volume recorded at this time last year but there is no certainty the industry can hold that margin. Besides continuing materials shortages the factories have a lot of new model work to cut into assemblies.

It has been reported in some industry quarters that several companies will try to get new models in production without halting assembly lines. This might be done where unused assembly lines are available; two substantially different types of cars cannot be built on the same conveyors.

Most of the 1949 models to be put into production during the remainder of this year will differ materially from those now being shipped. Cadillac, the Oldsmobile "Futuramic," Packard and Hudson may not be changed much in appearance, but GM'S Buick, Chevrolet and Pontiac reportedly are readying drastc alteratons as are the several Chrysler divisions.

Nash, plannng a "completely new car" already is closed down for its switch-over. New model programs always are subject to last minute changes but it appears likely now that October will see the new Nash cars and Cadillac's 1949 types.

Buick may show its re-designed models in November and the new Chevrolet and Pontiac models, going into production in December probably will be shown in January.

Chrysler has given not even a hint regarding its model planning, but sources usually well informed believe the 1949 Plymouths, Dodges, De Sotos and Chryslers will be introduced next February.

General Motors' Oldsmobile division, of course, is expected to restyle its "dynamic" models, known as the "60" and "70" series cars. A V-8 higher compression engine of increased horsepower probably will be installed in the "futuramic" series.

Rumors has it the new Buick will be a completely redesigned car. Although there has been no specific announcement to that effect, the torque converted transmission probably will be offered as optional equipment on the "50" or super model series.

Chevrolet's planning is aroused considerable speculation in trade quarters. So far this year the GM divisions has produced about 470,000 passenger cars and 240,000 trucks. This compares with 425,000 cars and about 180,000 trucks built during the same period last year.

Actually neither Chevrolet nor any other car builder needs new models at this time to stimulate interest. But many months of planning needed to get a new model from the drafting board to the assembly lines. The new 1949 models were started on the sketching boards long before anybody in the industry knew how long the unfilled order bank would hold up.

Trade quarters gossip has it the new Chevrolet also will be new from the road up, with wider and longer body, entirely new front end treatment and roomier interior.

Current indications are it will be given its premiere at New York's Waldorf Astoria the latter part of January.

PUBLIC LANDS

More than 3,146,000 acres, or approximately one-ninth of all Pennsylvania land, is now publicly owned, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out. This does not include the grounds occupied by state hospitals, state educational institutions, and other public buildings, nor the approximately 41,000 acres of military reservations.

EARLY INSURANCE

Prior to 1762, there was no life insurance, although there usually was insurance against loss of a crop or of a ship adventuring across the seas.

Double Parachute Drop Will Be Field Day Feature Event

The regular monthly meeting of the Warren Field & Stream Club was held in the YMCA Tuesday evening. This being the last meeting before the Club's annual Field Day, to be held at Wilder Field Sunday, September 12th, the final plans for that day were of course the main subject of discussion.

The Field Day Committee was announced as follows:

General Chairman—Cecil Winams.
Howard Lauffenberger—Ticket Sale.
Guy McKinley—Finance
Curt Sasserson—Archery.
Bob Morrison—Plug casting.
Warren Childs—Luck shoot.
John Schuler—Pistol shoot.
Bud Burdick—Shoot the B
Geo. Irvine—Pop and ice cream.
Frank Reese—Fox Hole Inn.
Giff Jones—Bingo
Harry Schmidt—Skeet
Frank Smith—Parking
Tom Conrad, Leroy Schneck—Announcements
Chuck Lane—Mosquito Skeet.
Jay Pees—Forestry and wild life.
Burt Stover—Loud speakers.
Julius Schultz—Electricity and wiring
Construction—Frank Smith.
Don Finley—Signs
Len Donaldson—Publicity.

The boys have gone all out this year again to make their Field Day an outstanding outdoor attraction The foregoing committee chairmen together with their activity will serve to tell about what the public will see and be able to take part in except that the two main attractions are not mentioned. Bob Geesey, expert trick, fancy, as well as accuracy pistol and revolver shooting exhibitionist will be on hand to do his stuff, and perhaps no better proof of his ability is needed than to say that he is just good enough to have been written up in the Life Magazine this year, and to have made a newsreel short for Universal Pictures. His act is a thriller to all small arms handlers, as well as to the public in general. The other headline attractions will be Caude Schafer of Indianapolis, Indiana, who will ascend to a sufficient height is a free balloon to enable him to make a double parachute drop—which is to say that after making a successful fall with one chute, he leaves it to make (we hope) a successful fall in the second chute.

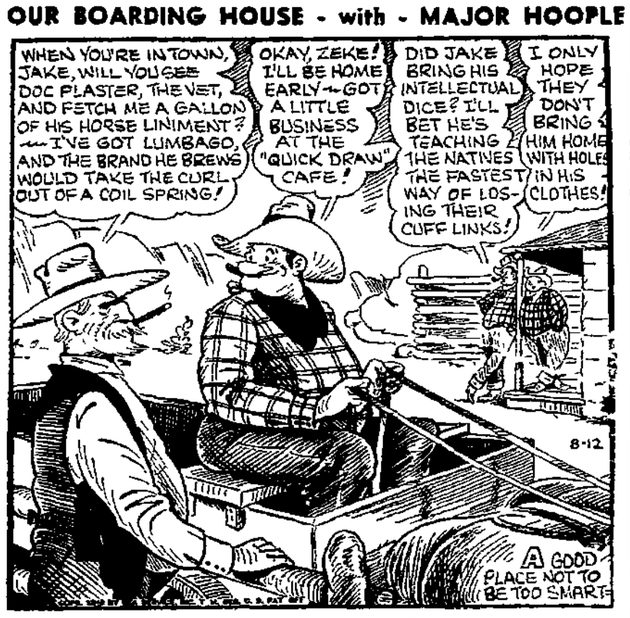

If the weather gives the Club a break they should enjoy a tremendous crowd since they have extended an invitation to the general public to attend without any charge for admission, parking, or any of the exhibits.

The only other real item of business discussed was the testimonial banquet which the Northwest Division is giving to Honorable Charles A. French. The Warren Field & Stream Club voted to guarantee Warren County's share of the expense of the banquet, in addition to its own just share as a member club.

Vivian Prettyman Becomes The Bride Of W. B. Webster

Lander, Aug. 12—A pretty summer wedding took place in the Russell Methodist church Saturday afternoon at three o'clock when Vivian Mae Prettyman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Prettyman, Russell RD 2, became the bride of Willard Bruce Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Webster, Russell RD 4.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Palmer N. Taylor, pastor of Russell church, with traditional wedding music furnished by Mrs. Charles Titchner. The church altar was decorated with palms and white gladoli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon with fitted bodice, full skirt and puffed sleeves, her fingertip veil being held in place by a bandeau of white roses. She wore a gold cross set with brilliants, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white testament with her bridal bouquet of white roses.

Miss Evelyn Webster, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride and wore a blue chiffon gown with a bandeau of pink roses. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

James Prettyman, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Eugene Webster and John Ellis.

The bride's mother chose a gray sheer and the bridegroom's mother wore a black sheer print. Each had a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for 60 guests. Tables were decorated with garden flowers and the bride's table, at which 14 were seated, was centered with sweet peas and roses. A three-tier wedding cake topped with wedding bells was served. Aides were Mrs. Charles Russo, Mrs. Lynn Burgett, assisted by Mrs. Everett Webster and Mrs. Edson Skinner.

Guests included the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Ollie Lindemuth, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Kesterholt and two daughters, Reynoldsville; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lindemuth and family, Westville; Mrs. Icie Kelso, Baxter; Mrs. June Neil, Summerville; Mrs. Ida McCuaig, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. L. H. Davis, Mrs. T. J. Scobie, Donald Scobie, Ottawa, Canada; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arnall and daughter, Alice, El Dorado, Kansas, as well as friends and neighbors from Warren, Thompson Hill, Lander and Jamestown.

Following the reception the couple left on a short wedding trip, and will reside in Warren. For traveling the bride chose a two piece black dress with white accessories and a white rose corsage, taken from her bridal bouquet.

The bride graduated with the 1946 class of Lander High School and is employed by the New Process Company. Mr. Webster is a graduate of Russell High School, class of 1944, and served in the navy for 21 months. He is employed by the Jamestown Metal Equipment Company.

The bride was honored recently at a shower given by Mrs. Minor Satterlund and Mrs. Everett Webster.

He is a member of the San Carlo Opera Company and has a repertoire which includes "Aida", Il Trovatore", "Rigoletto", "Carmen", and other major roles in opera. One of the highlights of his career was his appearance several seasons ago with Lily Pons in "Lucia di Lammermoor".

THREE STAR GENERAL IS FETED IN MANILA

Manila, Aug. 11—(AP)—Every searchlight in Manila Bay pinned a dazzling beam of light on the army transport S. B. Buckner tonight as the vessel headed past Corregidor for San Francisco.

It was a spectacular farewell from the Philippines to Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, who fought long and hard to free this land. The tall three star general, whose Eighth Army occupied Japan, was more than a little surprised at all the fuss made over an old soldier going home to retire.

These past four days he has been feted throughout Manila, one of the major cities he helped liberate from the Japanese.

This And That

Gerda Lawrence writes us from The Farm, Grand Valley, that she and her sister, Anna Lawson, have thoroughly recuperated from their trip to the west coast and are completely lost without the Times-Mirror. Pure flattery, but we love it! "When talking of our California trip", says the popular high school art teacher, "I little thought that the most beautiful of all would be the very end of the journey—but, after seeing the oceans of golden wheat in the middlewest; snowballing in the Rockies in the middle of July; the mystery of the Yellowstone, where nature is having fun; the awesome grandeur of Grand Canyon; Hollywood, where no one grows old; the thrill of our four American presidents carved in stone and seemingly guarding the country they loved and worked for—after delivering my passengers to Youngstown and Warren—the very loveliest scene in 9,000 miles of traveling was leaving Warren and traveling along the river and hill into a gorgeous sunset. That was real beauty." Seems like they missed a bet when they neglected to place Mrs. Lawrence's name on that Pennsylvania Week committee . . .

Remember Peggy Haslett, who graduated from Warren High School in the Class of 1944? Sunday's issue of the Williamsport Grit pictured her as one of two Pennsylvania girls who have become stewardesses with American Airlines following their graduation from the stewardess training center at Ardmore, Okla. . . . In the same issue is a picture and story about Anna A. Knowlton, of Jamestown, proud possessor of a large and very complete collection of cranberry glass bells. Miss Knowlton, who was formerly the organist at First Presbyterian church here and is well known in Warren musical circles, has accumulated 1,600 bells from all over the world, excepting only the countries of Ireland and Iceland. Her collection includes 22 bells of the delicate glass colored like the cranberry. Two of her oldest bells are estimated by historians to have been used in 1500 B. C. One was discovered outside Rome; the other is a donkey bit bell from China, used to ward off evil spirits and to scare snakes.

Former Ludlow Students Wed In Oklahoma

Ludlow, Aug. 12—Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Nelson, of Ludlow, announce the marriage of their daughter, Emma Marie, to Norman Earnest Wayne Larson, of Oklahoma City, Okla., on Saturday morning, August 7.

The ceremony was performed in the Lutheran church at Norman, Okla., at 11 a. m., with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hanson, of Norman, as the only attendants. All of those named are formerly of Ludlow, the bridegroom being the son of Axel L. Larson and the best man, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hanson.

The bride wore a satin suit of champagne color, with matching hat and accessories and a shoulder corsage. Mrs. Hanson's suit was complimentary in color to that worn by the bride.

After a wedding trip through Texas and Colorado, the newlyweds will reside in Norman until October 1, after which they will be at home to friends in a new apartment in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Larson will be remembered as an associate in the Hilma Beauty Shop in Kane, the Peggy-Marie Shop in Port Allegany, and the Keh Lorch Shoppe in Bradford. She is a graduate of Ludlow High School and had special beauticians training. She is now manager of the Leslie Merle Shop in Norman.

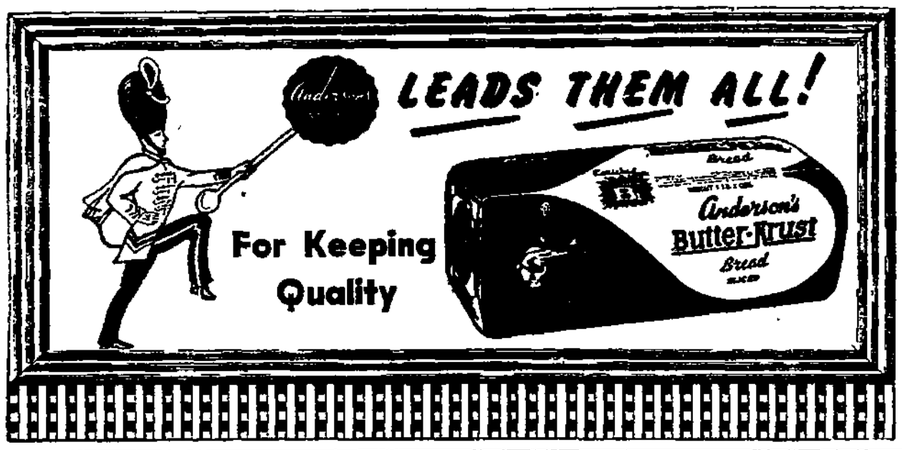

Mr. Larson was a graduate from Ludlow High School and Upsala College in East Orange, N. J., and prior to World War II, was employed by the Chicago Daily News. He was in service five years, with most of his duty as a member of the CID in the Mediterranean Area. He is now associated with the J. F. Gilders Company, publishing and advertising firm in Oklahoma City.

By JAMES MARLOW

ashington — (AP)—Elizabeth Bentley says she became an erican communist and an agent Russia without knowing anyg about American history.

he's a graduate of Vassar and her master's degree at Colbia University. In spite of her oling, she told Rep. Hebert La) of the house UnAmerican vities committee, she never ned American history.

hat doesn't mean the schools 't touch it. They did. But didn't have to take it and she 't.

few years ago the New York es made a survey which showonly 18 per cent of 690 Ameri- colleges and universities com- ed their students to take Amn history.

o—in ignorance of the strugof her own country to make a and more democratic life here iss Bentley turned to commun.

ot only that, she says she be- e a Soviet agent, a messenger in a spy ring, and worked inst the interests of this coun- whose values she renounced hout learning them.

here's an important point here. ot knowing American history, couldn't have made an intelual choice between the life beworked out here and the kind g worked out in Soviet Russia. his is pretty plain evidence t she jumped into communism ough emotion, not through inect. Her emotional tie to comnism is pretty well illustrated this:

er own admission that interin it began to die with the th of a Russian agent with om she was in love. It died so pletely that she quit the comnist party and told the FBI her ole story.

n emotional communist like s Bentley is made to order for tougher communists who coldknow what they're doing and ly believe the end they seek tifies any means they use, no tter how ruthless.

ut her case has been duplicatmany times in this country by otional people, whether or not y turned to communism ough idealism or personal frustion.

ll of which makes Rep. Hebert h strongly that some steps ld be taken in this country to e the schools teach American tory to all students, so all could n its worth.

ut the underlying philosophy American life—equality, freen, civil liberties, respect for the ividual—is not a philosophy overed by Americans.

o appreciate the value of Amn living, a man needs to apciate mankind, his mistakes, triumphs, his greed, his unselfness, and his endless struggle security, freedom and wisdom. o why not go a little farther n Hebert?

In addition to teaching American history, why shouldn't the schools teach world history in a carefully thought-out way so students not only can appreciate what we have here but the cost in life and suffering by which it was attained, and how easily it can be lost unless defended intelligently.

World history would teach Americans the sense of continuity any man needs to understand mankind. It would teach them their obligation to the men who came before and those coming after us.

Fate's Heavy Thumb Weights Scales In Shops of Butchers

New York—(AP)—The butcher is at bay.

This is a new spectacle in our civilization ,and well may be the first vindication of Oswald Spengler's prediction of the collapse of the western world.

Harried by high prices and protesting housewives, the man at the meat block no longer can be sure on which side his pork chop is breaded—or buttered.

The lone man with the cleaver doesn't know whom to cleave to—his irate female customers or the stern wholesaler who has forced his costs up above the usual pattern that brings a profit.

They can talk all they want to about the normal law of supply and demand, but mama—the gal who fixes the family budget—is getting mad. And for the first time in our lifetime the man in the white apron behind the meat counter is on the defensive.

Supply or no supply, the lady of the house is demanding lower prices. She wants to bring home the bacon, but she wants it on her own terms. And more and more she is raising that deadliest of threats—a buyer's boycott—to get what she wants for the money she has to spend.

The neighborhood butcher, long the arbiter of customer menus, now finds he has no friends at all. Housewives who courted his favor and bought him presents in wartime have finally reached the point of rebellion.

The butcher would like to rebel too—but there is no way he can. Worn out with the beefing over inflation, he would like to take it on the lam, but all he can do is stand there patiently and live and loin.

It isn't meet that this once proud figure should bear all the onus of family budgetary problems. It's a rough situation for him, anyway you slice it. And he veals it as much as you do.

Nobody really loves a butcher. He lives always in an arena of doubt. I learned this years ago in my golden youth, when I served as an apprentice meat cutter. It was a period of depression and we formulated a rare hamburger at three pounds for a quarter. Today they acept the hamburger but question the price.

Having in my lifetime been on both sides of the counter, I realize that there is no permanent answer to the problem of buying and selling meat. In bad times, when round steak goes begging at 29 cents a pound, the butcher yearns to throw a slab in tre faces of his finicky customers. In good times he can't afford to. Meat is money then.

Forlorn and forsaken behind his well-stocked display case, the butcher now faces a dubious future. His usual careful camaraderie with the housewife is disipating in a fog of ill will and soaring prices.

In a court fuss here the other day a customer accused a butcher of belaboring him with an iron chair. The butcher said, well, the customer has grabbed up a 30-pound bus stanchion—and after all.

Much is at steak—perhaps civilization as we have known it. Maybe the solution is for everyone to turn vegetarian. Then who would carrot all?

Chapter 5

JANE said, when she had finished her little story: "Aunt Mae says it's all over town about Carl being seen in Washington with that girl. Had you heard about it, Tess?"

"I had heard it," Tess said. She sat on the studio couch, one slacked leg tucked under her. Scowling thoughtfully, she lit a cigarette. "I didn't tell you because I didn't consider it worth telling. I can think up a dozen good and perfectly innocent reasons why he might have been having dinner with one of his students."

"So can I," Jane agreed. "Still I can think up a couple that wouldn't be so innocent, too."

"Oh, sure, if you want to go in for an orgy of tormenting yourself, I think your Aunt Mae had a lot of nerve, peddling the story to you. What's she doing, trying to make trouble?"

"I don't think so. She felt that I ought to know—for my own good and self-protection."

Tess made a wry grimace. "Heaven deliver me from people who come bearing gossip for my own good. Excuse me for saying it, honey, but I think it would have been much kinder if your Aunt Mae had kept her trap shut. And if that sounds harsh—well, why shouldn't I have some fairly rugged ideas on the subject of gossip? I'm the little expert on the harm it can do. If it hadn't been for all the careless talk that ran like wildfire around this town, I figure Barney and I would still be living together."

Jane saw the tears before Tess managed to squeeze them back. "Hold on to your man if you love him," Tess said unsteadily. "Don't let a lot of long-tongued meddling matties rip things apart for you."

"I know," Jane said. "And I do trust Carl. Only—"

"Only what?"

"Well," Jane said, "if his being with that girl in Washington was perfectly innocent, just a casual, accidental meeting, why didn't he mention it to me?"

Tess shrugged. "Maybe he forgot."

"Oh, no, he didn't forget. When he came home, he told me a dozen little details about his trip. But he never mentioned having had dinner with Helen Talbot!"

"And," Jane added, "professors do get infatuated with their students. Look, Tess, there's something else I want to ask you. And mind, I want the truth, not a few tactful evasions. You've known me for years. Do you think I've changed since I've been married?"

"Changed?"

"It's hard to explain what I mean," Jane laughed, "since I scarcely know myself. Pardon me for quoting Aunt Mae again—"

"Honestly, honey, I'm beginning to think you have an Aunt Mae complex. She pokes ideas at you, and you stop them up like a sponge."

"Yes. I suppose I do. I try not to, but— Well, anyway, she as much as said I was turning into a drudge."

JANE grimaced ruefully. "The way to hold one's husband's interest, according to Aunt Mae, is to become interested in a thousand and one things that haven't anything to do with your husband."

"If you ask me," Tess snapped, "Aunt Mae is full of little red ants. Why do you listen to her, honey? When she starts on one of her tirades, why don't you just close your ears and think about something else?"

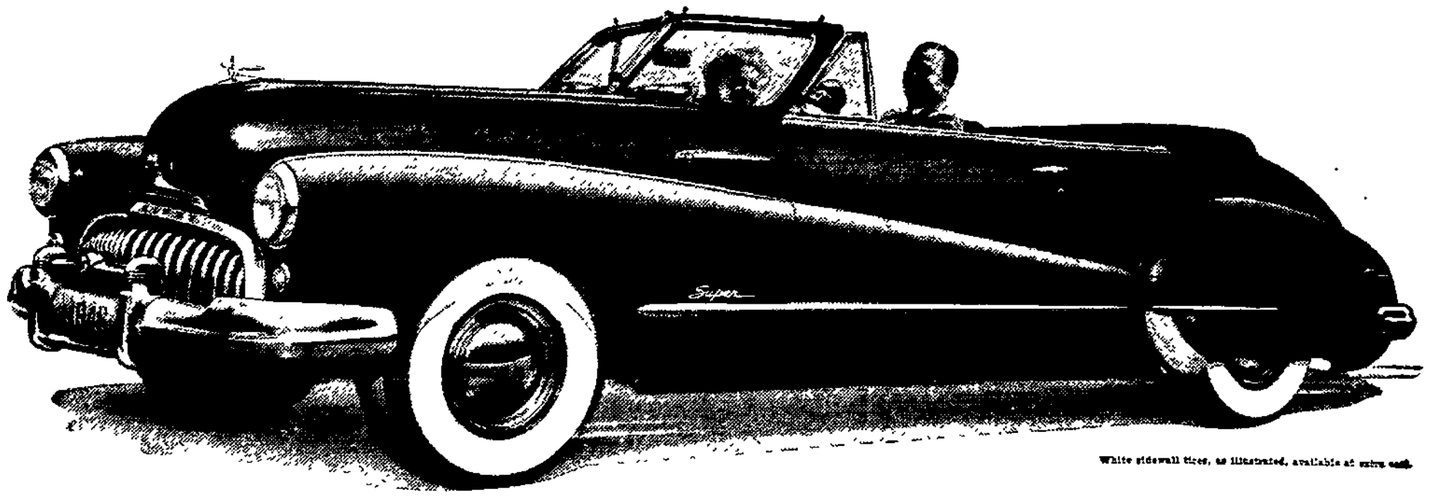

"Well," Jane reasoned, "now and again Aunt Mae comes up with something that makes sense. I'm asking you, Tess—did you think I'm turning into a boring little-woman-in-the-home model? It's been done, you know, by smarter gals than me. We never see ourselves as others see us, and all that stuff. Look me over carefully, and tell me what you think. Do you see any signs that my sparkling personality is getting swamped with housework and wifely duties?"

"Well, maybe a few signs," Tess said unexpectedly.

"You do?" Jane said. "Gosh. Then Aunt Mae was right. I'd better start doing something about myself."

"I don't mean what Aunt Mae meant," Tess said. "From where I sit, you're just as attractive as you were and I can't imagine Carl, or any other man, being bored with you. I think you're the one who's bored, and you haven't got wise to it yet. I shouldn't wonder but what that is what this is all about. Unconsciously you're so sick of housework and cooking, and nothing else but, you can't see straight. Unconsciously you're a little bored with seeing so much of Carl, and so little of anyone else. No matter how much any woman loves a man, she needs other people too. Before you were married, your life was crammed with men who were crazy about you, with excitement, with fun. Afterwards, ever since, you've had to make do with quiet little faculty dinners and teas. All very nice and suitable, but not very thrilling. That house to take care of. Meals to get. And of course, Carl. Quite definitely, I suspect you're the one who's bored. You just haven't found it out yet."

"And you've been reading another book on psychology," Jane grinned. "I shouldn't wonder but what you're right, at that," she said. "Funny, Tess, that you should have discovered it before I did."

Huge Planting Of Tree Seeds Contemplated

See Swanson Tire Sale On Page 17

What may prove to be the greatest single planting of forest-tree seeds in the history of the country's conservation efforts has just been completed by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

More than 6 500 pounds of seed were sown during the recent spring season, according to Department foresters. These were added to the 2,500 bushels of walnuts, acorns and other nut-bearing-tree seeds planted during the 1947 autumn season.

This quantity of seed could produce 60,000,000 forest tree seedlings. The nurseries, incidentally, have a potential annual capacity of about 75,000,000 seedlings.

Even with this mass planting of forest-tree seeds, Secretary M. F. Draemel has declared that "due to the great demand for seedlings to plant for timber production, watershed protection, soil erosion control, reclamation of strip-mining areas and for wild-life food and cover," the Department is continuing its campaign for collection of forest-tree seeds.

"The department, therefore, has advised all its field personnel to gather all possible seeds for new plantings during the approaching fall season," he said.

"Foresters, rangers and other field employes have been instructed to locate now, any possible sources of seed so that the quantities desired may be accumulated as soon as the seeds are ripe."

Secretary Draemel urged particular assistance of "Sportsmens organizations, Boy and Girl Scouts, members of 4-H Clubs and kindred groups or individuals interested in helping the conservation program in Pennsylvania."

They should contact a forest officer in their vicinity or write directly to the Department of Forests and Waters, Capitol, Harrisburg, the Secretary said.

Chapter 6

IT WAS a lovely day for a walk. Cool, crisp, fall in the air. When she left Tess, Jane decided to drive her car home, then take a walk out by the college grounds. She needed to think. And she'd always been able to think better when she was walking.

She had gone farther than she had intended, had left the college behind and was at the very outskirts of town when a car drove up beside her. A cushy model, long and low and shining, and brand-new. Jane wondered how Pauline Clark's husband managed to get a new car when no one else had been able to get one. Pauline said: "Hello, there, Jane Whittier. Want a drive home?"

"Maybe I could use it," Jane grinned. "I started out for a walk but I'm getting tired."

"Taking a walk? What a quaint idea, darling." Pauline gave an amused, sophisticated laugh. "Hop in. How lucky to run into you like this, when we were just talking about you. Jane, this is Ted Eggleston. Ted, Mrs. Carl Whittier. She's too pretty for a faculty wife, isn't she, Ted?"

Jane looked at the rather handsome blond boy on the seat beside Pauline, and found herself smiling. You couldn't help smiling at Ted Eggleston, because he himself had such a friendly, really marvelous smile.

He said: "I believe I'm in one of your husband's classes, Mrs. Whittier. That is, when I remember to go I am."

He hopped out and helped Jane into the car. "Oh, darn," she said, squeezing herself in between Ted and Pauline. Her hand went down to the heel of her shoe. "The darned thing's come loose." Ted said: "Let me see." And then: "I could fix this for you if I had a hammer."

"Could you really?" Jane asked. "If I take it to the repair shop, it will be weeks before I get it back."

Pauline said: "Ted's a genius. Aren't you a genius, darling? There's practically nothing the lad can't do—except find himself a room to live in. Jane, you have that fantastically big old house, and you and Carl must rattle around in it like a couple of peas. Why don't you rent Ted a room?"

"Yeah, Mrs. Whittier," Ted said, in a coaxing, little-boy voice, "why don't you rent me a room? I gotta live some place, haven't I?"

JANE smiled at him. "Were you in the Army?"

"Was I in the Army!" He patted her shoulder as much as to say such dullness was beyond him, but he would try to deal patiently with it. "How could I help being in the Army? I'm twenty-six and—"

"You don't look it," Jane said, and he didn't. "You don't look a day over twenty."

"Twenty-six," he repeated. "I work very hard to preserve that boyish look because it helps me with the dames. It arouses their maternal instinct. Tell me, Mrs. Whittier, do you feel maternal about me?"

Jane laughed and Pauline shrieked: "Isn't he crazy? Isn't he the craziest thing? And that's the way he is all the time. More darned fun to have around. Look, Jane, we're serious about this room business. Believe it or not, there isn't such a thing to be had in this town. Ted's been staying at our house until he finds a place."

"Well, if you have an extra room," Jane said, "why should he move out of it?"

Pauline shrugged. "Now, Jane, you know Sam. So jealous and all that. If Ted doesn't move out soon, Sam will swear I'm having an affair with him."

"Oh," Jane said. "Well, I'm sorry, but honestly, I don't see what I can do about it. I've never rented any rooms, I never thought of such a thing. And anyway," she laughed, "I've been listening to lectures this livelong day about how I was doing too much housework, so it wouldn't be very sensible for me to take on a roomer and have another room to look after."

"My poor girl," Ted said, grinning at her. He took her hand and patted it comfortingly. "Are you turning into a household drudge? And you so young and pretty. Tch, tch, how can such things be! Well, I must save you from a fate worse than death—and believe it or not, I'm just the lad to do it. Wait until I move in. You've never seen action until you see me with a vacuum cleaner. And what I can do with a damp cloth applied to dirty windows staggers the imagination."

Jane said: "But I couldn't consider it. Honestly, I just couldn't."

"Why not?" said Pauline.

Ted was saying: "I'll tell you what. I'll stop by your house and fix that heel for you. Maybe you have some other shoe-repairing you'd like done. How about your husband? Does he have some shoes he'd like mended?"

Jane smiled. "I'd like you to fix this heel if you can. But I warn you, my friend—if you imagine you can inch your way into my good graces and persuade me to rent you a room—"

"Precisely what I had in mind," said Ted. "I'm about to turn on the charm, beautiful. Few women under ninety have been known to resist it."

Chapter 7

WHEN you were growing up, when the one serious business in life consisted in being gay and beautiful and charming, when the appearance of every attractive boy was a challenge to the competitive instinct, driving you to exert every feminine wile to the desirable end that he would find you irresistible—well, you learned certain tricks of the trade, so to speak. The trade of flirting with the male every gay, pretty girl plies, more or less instinctively, until she is safely married and comes into secure possession of a man of her own.

Trade? It was, to be accurate, more of an art. An art in which Jane, in her teens, had been something of a past-mistress. She was a born flirt.

Marriage had changed her somewhat. Jane had settled down. And that was the secret of the change her old friends detected in her.

She had told herself at the outset there were certain rules a faculty wife must live by, rules that were set for her which it was her job to live by.

She must acquire dignity, school herself to a certain reticence in her contacts with outsiders, strive for poise and an outward show of maturity as befitted the wife of a brilliant and highly regarded professor of English literature.

All this had been her own idea. Carl had never once suggested to her that he wanted her to change herself in any respect. But, it stood to reason that he wouldn't want her to go on being a more or less flighty little jitterbug. . . .

So she had sobered down. Since a faculty professor couldn't very well go about dancing night after night, even if he had been inclined to—and Carl was not so inclined—she had schooled herself to forget how simply mad about dancing she had once been.

Her smile was still sweet and charming, but there was a reserve about it. Now she saved her really special smiles for the times when she was alone with Carl.

JANE had, in short, set out to make a different kind of person of herself, deliberately to annihilate one side of her personality. The gay, sparkling, hail-fellow-well-met side which had once made her so irresistible to the town boys, and the boys from everywhere else whom she chanced to meet.

She had done rather a good job on herself, she thought.

And it had never occurred to her that in burying her lighter, carefree, adolescent side she had destroyed some of her most compelling charm. Or that in turning herself into the kind of person she thought a faculty wife should be, she was creating a dull, lusterless being who was even becoming a little bored with herself.

Such ideas had never entered her head until today, after her talk with Aunt Mae. And afterwards, when she had pondered a little on what Tess had said. "You're the one who's getting bored, only you don't realize it yet."

And not until she had brought Ted home and sat with him on the back porch, watching him tinkering with the heel of her shoe, did she realize what fun it was to let herself go, laugh as much as she pleased, talk the craziest talk, be just the kind of person she used to be.

She told him honestly: "It's been so long since I've found myself alone with a strange man that I don't know what to say to you. I guess you'd better start the conversation."

Ted grinned at her. "Okay. Where would you like me to start from, beautiful? I can start discreetly, with how I never found myself alone with a faculty wife before, and work up from there. Or I can start with how I never met a dark-eyed blonde before and work on from there. The second approach I prefer. I won't have so far to go, and I'm a lazy rascal, even when I'm falling in love with a beautiful blonde."

"Now, Ted." Jane eyed him severely. "We won't have any of that falling in love talk. I'm an old married lady." She grinned at him. "I might also mention that I'm an old hand at crazy talk that doesn't mean anything. So it doesn't shock me, but it might bore me. So how about a little snappy conversation on the subject of shoe-repairing? By the way, were you serious about being able to fix this heel?"

"Certainly. I'll need a few small nails and a hammer." And when Jane produced the hammer, he said: "Wonder of wonders," and pretended to look amazed. "Never did I expect to see the day when a ravishing blonde actually produced a hammer. I though you'd bring me the ice pick, or maybe the fire tongs."

Jane giggled. "It's my husband's hammer. Myself, I never use it. I really prefer the ice pick."

Jane laughed and pushed him down the hall toward the back porch. "You go out there and get on with your carpentering, or whatever you call what you do on a shoe. I'm going to make us some coffee. Or would you prefer cocoa? I have some little cookies. Iced ones."

Unconsciously you're so sick of housework and cooking, and nothing else but, you can't see straight. Unconsciously you're a little bored with seeing so much of Carl, and so little of anyone else. No matter how much any woman loves a man, she needs other people too. Before you were married, your life was crammed with men who were crazy about you, with excitement, with fun. Afterwards, ever since, you've had to make do with quiet little faculty dinners and teas. All very nice and suitable, but not very thrilling. That house to take care of. Meals to get. And of course, Carl. Quite definitely, I suspect you're the one who's bored. You just haven't found it out yet."

"And you've been reading another book on psychology," Jane grinned. "I shouldn't wonder but what you're right, at that," she said. "Funny, Tess, that you should have discovered it before I did."

Chapter 6

IT WAS a lovely day for a walk. Cool, crisp, fall in the air. When she left Tess, Jane decided to drive her car home, then take a walk out by the college grounds. She needed to think. And she'd always been able to think better when she was walking.

She had gone farther than she had intended, had left the college behind and was at the very outskirts of town when a car drove up beside her. A cushy model, long and low and shining, and brand-new. Jane wondered how Pauline Clark's husband managed to get a new car when no one else had been able to get one. Pauline said: "Hello, there, Jane Whittier. Want a drive home?"

"Maybe I could use it," Jane grinned. "I started out for a walk but I'm getting tired."

"Taking a walk? What a quaint idea, darling." Pauline gave an amused, sophisticated laugh. "Hop in. How lucky to run into you like this, when we were just talking about you. Jane, this is Ted Eggleston. Ted, Mrs. Carl Whittier. She's too pretty for a faculty wife, isn't she, Ted?"

Jane looked at the rather handsome blond boy on the seat beside Pauline, and found herself smiling. You couldn't help smiling at Ted Eggleston, because he himself had such a friendly, really marvelous smile.

He said: "I believe I'm in one of your husband's classes, Mrs. Whittier. That is, when I remember to go I am."

He hopped out and helped Jane into the car. "Oh, darn," she said, squeezing herself in between Ted and Pauline. Her hand went down to the heel of her shoe. "The darned thing's come loose."

Ted said: "Let me see." And then: "I could fix this for you if I had a hammer."

"Could you really?" Jane asked. "If I take it to the repair shop, it will be weeks before I get it back."

Pauline said: "Ted's a genius. Aren't you a genius, darling? There's practically nothing the lad can't do—except find himself a room to live in. Jane, you have that fantastically big old house, and you and Carl must rattle around in it like a couple of peas. Why don't you rent Ted a room?"

"Yeah, Mrs. Whittier," Ted said, in a coaxing, little-boy voice, "why don't you rent me a room? I gotta live some place, haven't I?"

JANE smiled at him. "Were you in the Army?"

"Was I in the Army!" He patted her shoulder as much as to say such dullness was beyond him, but he would try to deal patiently with it. "How could I help being in the Army? I'm twenty-six and—"

"You don't look it," Jane said, and he didn't. "You don't look a day over twenty."

"Twenty-six," he repeated. "I work very hard to preserve that boyish look because it helps me with the dames. It arouses their maternal instinct. Tell me, Mrs. Whittier, do you feel maternal about me?"

Jane laughed and Pauline shrieked: "Isn't he crazy? Isn't he the craziest thing? And that's the way he is all the time. More darned fun to have around. Look, Jane, we're serious about this room business. Believe it or not, there isn't such a thing to be had in this town. Ted's been staying at our house until he finds a place."

"Well, if you have an extra room," Jane said, "why should he move out of it?"

Pauline shrugged. "Now, Jane, you know Sam. So jealous and all that. If Ted doesn't move out soon, Sam will swear I'm having an affair with Ted."

"Oh," Jane said. "Well, I'm sorry, but honestly, I don't see what I can do about it. I've never rented any rooms, I never thought of such a thing. And anyway," she laughed, "I've been listening to lectures this livelong day about how I was doing too much housework, so it wouldn't be very sensible for me to take on a roomer and have another room to look after."

"My poor girl," Ted said, grinning at her. He took her hand and patted it comfortingly. "Are you turning into a household drudge? And you so young and pretty. Tch, tch, how can such things be! Well, I must save you from a fate worse than death—and believe it or not, I'm just the lad to do it. Wait until I move in. You've never seen action until you see me with a vacuum cleaner. And what I can do with a damp cloth applied to dirty windows staggers the imagination."

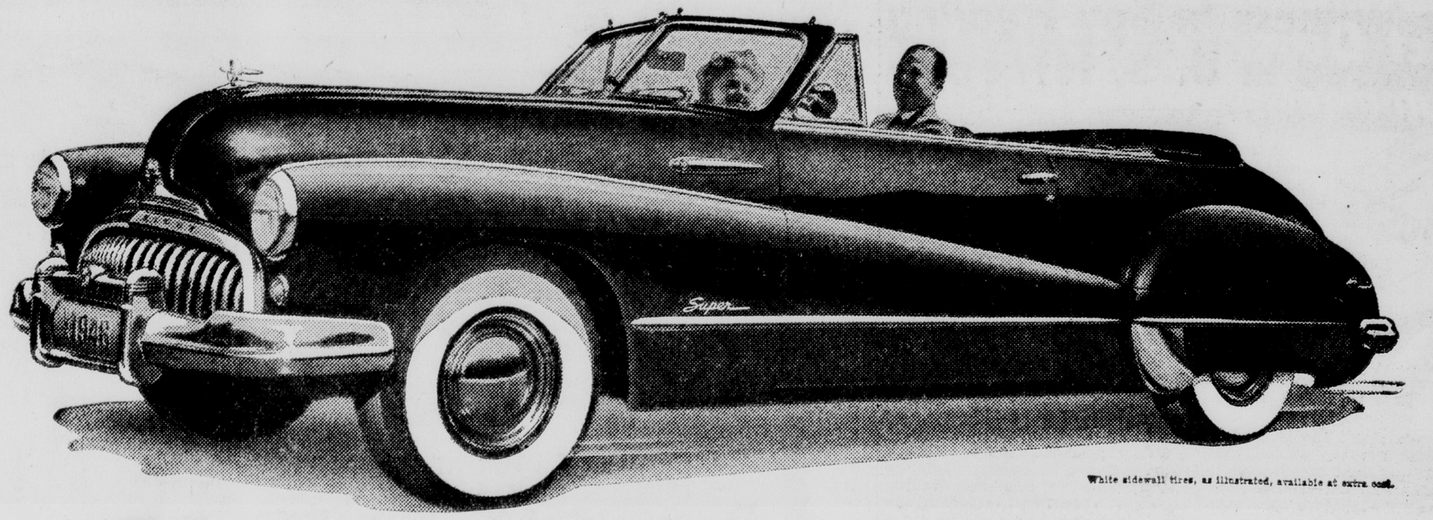

Jane said: "But I couldn't consider it. Honestly, I just couldn't."

"Why not?" said Pauline.

Ted was saying: "I'll tell you what. I'll stop by your house and fix that heel for you. Maybe you have some other shoe-repairing you'd like done. How about your husband? Does he have some shoes he'd like mended?"

Jane smiled. "I'd like you to fix this heel if you can. But I warn you, my friend—if you imagine you can inch your way into my good graces and persuade me to rent you a room—"

"Precisely what I had in mind," said Ted. "I'm about to turn on the charm, beautiful. Few women under ninety have been known to resist it."

YES, you make a mighty handsome picture, sweeping down the street in this sleek and neat-lined carriage.

You look super and feel super — because what you've got your hands on is not only a fashion plate, but a very SUPER-doer too.

Your hand on the wheel rests ever light and easy because this beauty tracks so true, obeys so readily your slightest guidance.

Your treadle foot can get an instant crescendo from the quiet purr of a Fireball power plant that's patiently content when you want to take it easy — and beaver-eager the instant you signal for action.

Big soft billowy tires mounted on the widest rims in the industry lay a feather pillow over the roadway's rough spots.

Soft deep springs of coil steel soak up shocks and blows that spell jarring jolts and jounces in lesser vehicles.

Power flows with a special silkiness from which engine sensation is eliminated by special Hi-Poised engine mountings not found in any other automobile on the market.

When you want to loaf, you loaf in deep content. When you want to go, you go with a surge of thrilling power that won't be denied its place at the head of the procession.

Fun? Of course it's fun to travel in Buick SUPER fashion.

It's the fun of traveling in style, traveling in comfort, traveling with adventuresome dash.

Huge Planting Of Tree Seeds Contemplated

What may prove to be the greatest single planting of forest-tree seeds in the history of the country's conservation efforts has just been completed by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

More than 6,500 pounds of seed were sown during the recent spring season, according to Department foresters. These were added to the 2,500 bushels of walnuts, acorns and other nut-bearing-tree seeds planted during the 1947 autumn season.

This quantity of seed could produce 60,000,000 forest tree seedlings. The nurseries, incidentally, have a potential annual capacity of about 75,000,000 seedlings.

Even with this mass planting of forest-tree seeds, Secretary M. F. Draemel has declared that "due to the great demand for seedlings to plant for timber production, watershed protection, soil erosion control, reclamation of strip-mining areas and for wild-life food and cover," the Department is continuing its campaign for collection of forest-tree seeds.

"The department, therefore, has advised all its field personnel to gather all possible seeds for new plantings during the approaching fall season," he said.

"Foresters, rangers and other field employes have been instructed to locate now, any possible sources of seed so that the quantities desired may be accumulated as soon as the seeds are ripe."

Secretary Draemel urged particular assistance of "Sportsmens organizations, Boy and Girl Scouts, members of 4-H Clubs and kindred groups or individuals interested in helping the conservation program in Pennsylvania."

They should contact a forest officer in their vicinity or write directly to the Department of Forests and Waters, Capitol, Harrisburg, the Secretary said.

Chapter 7

WHEN you were growing up, when the one serious business in life consisted in being gay and beautiful and charming, when the appearance of every attractive boy was a challenge to the competitive instinct, driving you to exert every feminine wile to the desirable end that he would find you irresistible—well, you learned certain tricks of the trade, so to speak. The trade of flirting with the male every gay, pretty girl plies, more or less instinctively, until she is safely married and comes into secure possession of a man of her own.

Trade? It was, to be accurate, more of an art. An art in which Jane, in her teens, had been something of a past-mistress. She was a born flirt.

Marriage had changed her somewhat. Jane had settled down. And that was the secret of the change her old friends detected in her.

She had told herself at the outset that there were certain rules a faculty wife must live by, words that were set for her which it was her job to live by.

She must acquire dignity, school herself to a certain reticence in her contacts with outsiders, strive for poise and an outward show of maturity as befitted the wife of a brilliant and highly regarded professor of English literature.

All this had been her own idea. Carl had never once suggested to her that he wanted her to change herself in any respect. But, it stood to reason that he wouldn't want her to go on being a more or less flighty little jitterbug. . . .

So she had sobered down. Since a faculty professor couldn't very well go about dancing night after night, even if he had been inclined to—and Carl was not so inclined—she had schooled herself to forget how simply mad about dancing she had once been.

Her smile was still sweet and charming, but there was a reserve about it. Now she saved her really special smiles for the times when she was alone with Carl.

JANE had, in short, set out to make a different kind of person of herself, deliberately to annihilate one side of her personality. The gay, sparkling, hail-fellow-well-met side which had once made her so irresistible to the town boys, and the boys from everywhere else whom she chanced to meet.

She had done rather a good job on herself, she thought.

And it had never occurred to her that in burying her lighter, carefree, adolescent side she had destroyed some of her most compelling charm. Or that in turning herself into the kind of person she thought a faculty wife should be, she was creating a dull, lusterless being who was even becoming a little bored with herself.

Such ideas had never entered her head until today, after her talk with Aunt Mae. And afterwards, when she had pondered a little on what Tess had said. "You're the one who's getting bored, only you don't realize it yet."

And not until she had brought Ted home and sat with him on the back porch, watching him tinkering with the heel of her shoe, did she realize what fun it was to let herself go, laugh as much as she pleased, talk the craziest talk, be just the kind of person she used to be.

She told him honestly: "It's been so long since I've found myself alone with a strange man that I don't know what to say to you. I guess you'd better start the conversation."

Ted grinned at her. "Okay. Where would you like me to start from, beautiful? I can start discreetly, with how I never found myself alone with a faculty wife before, and work up from there. Or I can start with how I never met a dark-eyed blonde before and work on from there. The second approach I prefer. I won't have so far to go, and I'm a lazy rascal, even when I'm falling in love with a beautiful blonde."

"Now, Ted." Jane eyed him severely. "We won't have any of that falling in love talk. I'm an old married lady." She grinned at him. "I might also mention that I'm an old hand at crazy talk that doesn't mean anything. So it doesn't shock me, but it might bore me. So how about a little snappy conversation on the subject of shoe-repairing? By the way, were you serious about being able to fix this heel?"

"Certainly, I'll need a few small nails and a hammer." And when Jane produced the hammer, he said: "Wonder of wonders," and pretended to look amazed. "Never did I expect to see the day when a ravishing blonde actually produced a hammer. I though you'd bring me the ice pick, or maybe the fire tongs."

Jane giggled. "It's my husband's hammer. Myself, I never use it. I really prefer the ice pick."

Jane laughed and pushed him down the hall toward the back porch. "You go out there and get on with your carpentering, or whatever you call what you do on a shoe. I'm going to make us some coffee. Or would you prefer cocoa? I have some little cookies. Iced ones."

The festivities will be staged on the school property at the rear of the community house and a number of committees have been busily engaged in working out details for a memorable occasion.

The principal attraction of the afternoon will be a horse pulling contest, with 20 teams entered so far. In the morning there will be a horse show, open only to Farmington township horses.

Rounding out the day, there will be a dance in the Grange hall during the evening hours.

State Places High In Road Construction

Harrisburg — Approximately 13% of all new highway construction placed under contract in the Nation, during the first six months of 1948 was by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Figures recently released by the Federal Public Roads Administration show that the Pennsylvania Department awarded contracts in the amount of $71,359,000 out of a total of $568,091,000 for the country as a whole.

Construction contracted for by Pennsylvania in six months was nearly twice as large as California which was in second place according to the Federal tabulation. The California total was $36,950,000. In third place was Texas with a total of $30,342,000.

The Pennsylvania Department of Highways has led its sister state in the amount of new highway construction undertaken during 1946, 1947 and the first half of the current year. Projects scheduled for lettings later in the year and awards already made but not included in the six months' total are expected to show that Pennsylvania will close the current year far in front of the other states.

Swim-For-Safety

Basic Rules as Taught by YMCA

Almost any body of water can look inviting on a warm day—but with waterholes as with people, it is wise to get acquainted before accepting invitations.

For water sport, unfamiliar waters are unsafe waters. The safe places to go swimming are areas that are reserved and maintained for that purpose and adequately protected—the well-marked, supervised and guarded bathing beach or swimming pool. Bear in mind that swimming is a means of safety and fun, not an excuse for venturing into danger.

"People who wouldn't think of crossing a street against a red light, or of going out in the rain without their rubbers, will not give a second thought to plunging into any body of water, just so long as it appears wet and cool," Mulvey, aquatic expert of the Warren YMCA complains. "They seem completely oblivious of the fact that the bottom of the pond or lake may be a vertiable death trap."

Swim only at protected beaches or pools

Perhaps the most dangerous waters are those still ponds or streams which look so safe. Beneath their placid surfaces, Mulvey warns, may lurk many hidden dangers, waiting to trap the careless swimmer.

Because of tides and undertows, ocean swimming is particularly hazardous except within well-protected areas and during hours when lifeguards are present. Flooded and swollen streams should be avoided, not only because of the swift current, but also because of danger from wholly or partly submerged logs or other debris. The "old swimming hole" is a nostalgic memory to many adults, but the well-guarded bathing beach or swimming pool is safer.

Help Needed to Rake Grass at Memorial Field

Doctor J. R. Elliott, president of the Warren Sports Boosters Club is appealing for men to help rake the new war memorial field tonight. There is a lot of dead grass on the field which must be raked off before the football season opens next month. The field has been worked on for the past two nights by the directors and some high school football players. It is hoped that more men and boys will turn out this evening so the job can be completed. Leaf rakes work best in clearing off the grass.

Pups Snub Pabst

To the Editor:

What! Don't people do anything at parties any more but drink, smoke, and play cards? A full page colored beer ad in the June 27, 1948, Chicago Sunday Tribune starts out:

"Do You Know—that your neighborhood package beverage store carries not only Pabst Blue Ribbon and other beverages—including ginger ale and club soda—but in many cases, cigarettes, cigars, pipe tobacco, playing cards and other necessary items for an evening of entertainment?"

I don't know what to think about you humans sometimes. You certainly have a queer idea of what is "necessary" for "entertainment." If doping yourselves and smelling the house up with booze and tobacco is the only way you know how to have fun, then it looks like you're going to the dogs for sure. But you can't stay with us. We don't want our kennels in the kind of a mess your houses are in after a party.

Will Probe Conflicting Testimony

both former teachers in a school the Soviets operated for Russians who are in the United States because of connections with the United Nations.

Thomas's announcement that Samarin has been brought here capped a committee session with these other highlights:

1. An announcement that "preliminary steps" have been taken looking to prosecution of some spy hearings witnesses on charges of perjury—lying under oath.

2. A wrangling two-hour questioning of Charles Kramer and Abraham George Silverman. Both men have been named by Elizabeth T. Bentley, who says she was courier for a wartime Communist spy ring, as government workers who gave her information.

Kramer and Silverman both refused to say whether they are or have been Communists or whether they know Miss Bentley. They denied espionage.

Kramer now does research work for Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party. Silverman said he is unemployed.

On the perjury move, Thomas said George Morris Fay, United States attorney for the District of Columbia, has obtained a transcript of all hearings in the committee's current investigation of an alleged espionage ring. Thomas said Fay is "particularly interested in the perjury angle."

Several committee members have demanded that the justice department institute perjury proceedings. They said testimony has been so conflicting that it was obvious some one was deliberately lying.

Thomas did not say when the Samarins will be questioned, but said it will be an executive session, meaning behind closed doors.

A subcommittee headed by Rep. Mpndt (D-SD was to have gone to New York today to question Samarin and his wife.

Mundt told reporters that Soviet agents suggested a trpi to Moscow for Elizabeth T. Bentley when they began to suspect her loyalty to Communism.

Mundt said he doesn't know whether this was an attempt to entice her to Russia to get rid of her or merely an effort to set a trap to find out whether she still could be trusted.

Miss Bentley has been a key witness for the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, in the role of a confessed former Communist and wartime spy.

The committee's spy hearings galloped off in three different directions today. Subcommittees rode the trail toward more developments here, in New York and possibly in Ottawa.

Still another off-shoot of the many-sided thriller, put a writ of habeas corpus in the hands of the Soviet consul general in New York.

It commanded him to produce in state supreme court today Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, Russian school teacher who is "resting" in the consulate after her "rescue" from an anti-Communist White Russian retreat.

To the surprise of no one, the consul general, Jacob M. Lomakin, announced he would ignore the write.

The state department, admitting the incident is without precedent in American diplomatic history, took a completely hands-off attitude for the time being.

The writ was obtained and served by officers of Common Cause, Inc., an anti-Communist organization seeking to bring Mrs. Kosenkina's own story to light.

The consulate already has announced, however, that she will be going home on the very next Russian boat out of New York. Aside from the furore over the "kidnaping" incident, Lomakin has not explained why Soviet authorities are so eager to have Mrs. Kosenkina back in Russia.

Moscow, Aug. 12—(AP)—Pravda accused the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation today of kidnaping two Soviet school teachers.

Devoting nearly a full page to the cases of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and Mikhail Ivanovitch Samarin, Pravda charged the United States with "gangster tactics."

Viktorov said that the "Tolstoy" fund is under the direct protection of the American authorities and even more, is a direct weapon of "American Reactionary Circles." (This evidently referred to the Tolstoy Foundation, Inc., where Mrs. Kosenkina is reported to have stayed.)

I don't know what to think about you humans sometimes. You certainly have a queer idea of what is "necessary" for "entertainment." If doping yourselves and smelling the house up with booze and tobacco is the only way you know how to have fun, then it looks like you're going to the dogs for sure. But you can't stay with us. We don't want our kennels in the kind of a mess your houses are in after a party.

FIFTY CASES OF POLIO REPORTED IN PENN'A

Harrisburg, Aug. 12—(AP)—Fifty cases of infantile paralysis have been reported so far this month, but the state health department said there is "no hot spot anywhere."

Dr. J. Moore Campbell, deputy secretary, said the present cases are widely scattered throughout the state.

Local health officials have listed 111 cases of the infection with the department since January 1. This compares with only 73 cases for the corresponding period of 1947.

ATTORNEY LEAVES A SHORT PENCILED WILL

Pittsburgh, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Attorney Edward O. Tabor, who drafted hundreds of involved wills in his lifetime, left only a penciled note when he died last July 26.

Admitted to probate today, the note gave his $4,000 estate to his widow and added:

"Confirmed with the wish that I had a thousand times more to give her as proof of my gratitude to her—the lovely mother of our three lovely kiddies."

ARREST MADE SOON AFTER FATAL SHOOTING

Pittsburgh, Aug. 12—(AP)—John Brown, 38, of Rankin, was arrested only a few minutes after John Matthews, 39, also of Rankin, was shot to death.

Justice of the Peace Sam Roy held Brown on a charge of murder.

Rankin Police Chief Frank Gaskill, who boarded a streetcar to arrest Brown, quoted the prisoner as saying Mathews threatened to kill him. Gaskill said Matthews was killed before several witnesses by a rifle shot fired after an argument.

Will Probe Conflicting Testimony

both former teachers in a school the Soviets operated for Russians who are in the United States because of connections with the United Nations.

Thomas's announcement that Samarin has been brought here capped a committee session with these other highlights:

1. An announcement that "preliminary steps" have been taken looking to prosecution of some spy hearings witnesses on charges of perjury—lying under oath.

2. A wrangling two-hour questioning of Charles Kramer and Abraham George Silverman. Both men have been named by Elizabeth T. Bentley, who says she was courier for a wartime Communist spy ring, as government workers who gave her information.

Kramer and Silverman both refused to say whether they are or have been Communists or whether they know Miss Bentley. They denied espionage.

Kramer now does research work for Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party. Silverman said he is unemployed.

On the perjury move, Thomas said George Morris Fay, United States attorney for the District of Columbia, has obtained a transcript of all hearings in the committee's current investigation of an alleged espionage ring. Thomas said Fay is "particularly interested in the perjury angle."

Several committee members have demanded that the justice department institute perjury proceedings. They said testimony has been so conflicting that it was obvious some one was deliberately lying.

Thomas did not say when the Samarins will be questioned, but said it will be an executive session, meaning behind closed doors.

A subcommittee headed by Rep. Mpndt (D-SD was to have gone to New York today to question Samarin and his wife.

Mundt told reporters that Soviet agents suggested a trpi to Moscow for Elizabeth T. Bentley when they began to suspect her loyalty to Communism.

Mundt said he doesn't know whether this was an attempt to entice her to Russia to get rid of her or merely an effort to set a trap to find out whether she still could be trusted.

Miss Bentley has been a key witness for the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, in the role of a confessed former Communist and wartime spy.

The committee's spy hearings galloped off in three different directions today. Subcommittees rode the trail toward more developments here, in New York and possibly in Ottawa.

Still another off-shoot of the many-sided thriller, put a writ of habeas corpus in the hands of the Soviet consul general in New York.

It commanded him to produce in state supreme court today Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, Russian school teacher who is "resting" in the consulate after her "rescue" from an anti-Communist White Russian retreat.

To the surprise of no one, the consul general, Jacob M. Lomakin, announced he would ignore the write.

The state department, admitting the incident is without precedent in American diplomatic history, took a completely hands-off attitude for the time being.

The writ was obtained and served by officers of Common Cause, Inc., an anti-Communist organization seeking to bring Mrs. Kosenkina's own story to light.

The consulate already has announced, however, that she will be going home on the very next Russian boat out of New York. Aside from the furore over the "kidnaping" incident, Lomakin has not explained why Soviet authorities are so eager to have Mrs. Kosenkina back in Russia.

Moscow, Aug. 12—(AP)—Pravda accused the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation today of kidnaping two Soviet school teachers.

Devoting nearly a full page to the cases of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and Mikhail Ivanovitch Samarin, Pravda charged the United States with "gangster tactics."

Viktorov said that the "Tolstoy" fund is under the direct protection of the American authorities and even more, is a direct weapon of "American Reactionary Circles." (This evidently referred to the Tolstoy Foundation, Inc., where Mrs. Kosenkina is reported to have stayed.)

honoring the 1928 squad of men who represented Warren High School 20 years ago, the Sports Boosters and public will be honoring the second undefeated and untied team in Warren High school history. Last year they went back 30 years to honor the team that represented Warren High School in 1917. This was Warren High's only other undefeated and untied team.

The names of 16 lettermen of the 1928 High School team was furnished the football committee of the Sports Boosters Association by the High School office.

Letters inviting these men to the reunion and homecoming are being mailed this week. One member of the squad, Robert Gaffner, is deceased.

Those to be honored are: Arthur M. Anderson; Ange (Captain) Bevevino; William Bevevino; Loren Bidwell; Edwin Bradford; Kay Burns; Richard Dase and Bernard Dennig. Also James Lytle, Fred Mack, Paul McCormack, Glenn Mickelson (student manager), Leonard "Kelly" Mowbray, Harold Patchen and Robert Schindler. Many of these men still make their home in or near Warren. Others have moved from Warren and though the addresses of most of them are known to the football committee some help from the public will be requested so that relatives or friends may supply the latest known address of members of the squad whom the committee cannot locate.

A list of the members of the squad whose addresses are not known will be published in the columns of the Times-Mirror soon. It is felt the list will not be a long one as the committee, with the cooperation of friends and relatives of the members of the 1928 squad, has been able to locate the majority of the men in question.

Following the pattern of the reunion held last year for the 1917 squad it is also planned to hold a stag smoker for members of the 1928 team on Friday, September 17th, the eve of the homecoming game. Details of this smoker and get-together will be worked out by the Football Committee of the Warren Sports Booster Association and announced shortly.

The Football Committee working on the plans for the two days' celebration, consists of J. R. "Doc" Elliott; C. T. "Ted" Berdine; Meyer A. Kornreich and Donald E. McComas, chairman. Any of these men would appreciate information pertaining to the present whereabouts of any members of the 1928 team not now living in Warren.

Pennant Fever Mounting In Philly As A's Beat Senators

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pennant fever is mounting in Philadelphia today. Connie Mack's astounding Athletics once again are only a hair's breadth out of first place in the American League's tingling pennant battle.

The A's, who on a number of occasions have been down and ready to be counted out of the struggle, moved to within .0001 of a percentage point of the front-running Cleveland Indians last night with a thrilling victory over Washington while the Indians divided a twilight-night double-header with St. Louis.

Connie Mack's hustling club has won 65 games and lost 43 while the Indians have copped 62 victories and suffered 41 defeats. Since the A's have played more games, they are a half game ahead of the Tribe, but Cleveland has the better won-lost percentage, .6019 to the A's .6018.

Philadelphia came from behind and beat the Senators, 8-3, while the Indians, after downing the Browns, 7-5, were crushed, 12-4, in the second game.

At St. Louis, Bob Lemon, with help from Satchel Paige in the seventh, gained his 15th victory for the Indians in the opener. The Indians were leading, 7-3, when the Browns drove Lemon from the hill during a two-run seventh inning rally.

Joe Gordon, Dale Mitchell and Jim Hegan led the Cleveland attack with three hits each. One of Gordon's hits was his 22nd homer.

Hefty clubbing by Rockies Hank Arft and Dick Kokos ruined the Indians in the nightcap. Arft drove home four runs on a homer, double, and single and Kokos knocked in three mates with a pair of two-baggers and a single.

The third place Boston Red Sox remained two games behind the A's beating the Yankees, 5-2, in a day game at New York.

In the only other night game in either circuit, the White Sox nipped Detroit Tigers, 2-1, at Chicago. A wild pitch by Virgil Trucks enabled Dave Philley to score from third with the winning run in the eighth inning.

The Boston Braves maintained their three-game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals in the National League race, beating the New York Giants 4-3, while the Dodgers and Cards also won.

The Dodgers nosed out the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, in Brooklyn as Marv Rackley singled home Billy Cox with the winning run with two down in the ninth inning. The Philadelphia runs came on round-trippers by Dick Sisler and Eddie Miller.

At Cincinnati, the Cardinals, led by Stan Musial thumped the Reds, 9-4. The Red Birds tallied once in the first on Musial's 26th four-bagger and six times in the second. Musial doubled home three runs in the Cards' big inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates moved within a half game of the fourth place Giants as Rep. Sewell exercised his mastery over the Chicago Cubs by a 4-2 triumph. It was Sewell's 30th victory over the Cubs since he entered the league.

Corry Loads Up For Game Here Saturday

The game scheduled under lights between the National Forge and Corry Merchants on the latter field last evening was called off because of rain.

As a result the two teams are looking forward with more than usual interest in the game Saturday afternoon, scheduled as a feature of Old Timers' Day at the Warren State Hospital.

It is understood the Merchants will be loaded for this clash, with John Randinelli, Joe McGraw, and Robertson, from Tidioute, with several players from Erie and Jamestown, along with Bill Untereiner, former Forge player. It is not known as yet with what team Auggie Frisina will be playing, since Auggie lives in Corry and has played several seasons with the locals.

This is certain to be a tip-top battle with the Merchants conceded to hold a slight edge due to the many ringers brought in for this particular game. For the Forgers both Hines and Whittaker will be available.

The game will get under way immediately after the abbreviated Old-Timers' contest and the exhibition by Nick Altrock, famous Washington Senators' coach and clown.

Rule Adopted For Playoffs In Sr. League

The first game of the Sunset League playoffs, scheduled for last evening at the State Hospital field was rained out after four and one-half innings and will be played over on Monday at the same field.

Rules adopted for the playoffs have been agreed upon and are as follows:

1. All Sunset League playoff games starting at six or six-thirty o'clock will go seven innings.

2. All games must go five complete innings unless the home team is leading when four and one-half innings have been played.

3. Umpires for the playoffs shall include Lou Vizza who will replace Jim Senger. For the first game, Vizza will officiate behind the plate, Petrewski at first and Wheeler at third. For the second game, Petrewski will work behind the plate, Vizza at first and Wheeler at third. For the third game, Vizza will work balls and strikes with Petrewski at first and Senger at third. Alternate umpires are Dahler, Dick Johnson and Tomassoni.

Goshen Victor Nearly Missed Being Entered

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 12—(AP)—A check which almost wasn't sent proved a happy, profitable investment today to Harrison Hoyt. The owner of the 1948 Hambletonian winner, Demon Hanover, took a $200 gamble and cleaned up $32,500.15.

The Demon, who proved to be just that yesterday as he zipped to straight-heat victories in the 23rd Hambletonian at Good Time track almost wasn't nominated to America's premier trotting derby.

Demon Hanover captured the first heat before a record 20,000 crowd, then returned an hour later to repeat the process, even more easily than in the initial trial. The son of Dean Hanover led all the way both times, with Coldstream Stud's Rollo and C. M. Saunders' Egan Hanover second and third on both occasions.

Hoyt disclosed later that when it came time for the initial $200 payment in 1946 to nominate for the Hambletonian, he debated whether it was worth the chance. Demon Hanover had cost him $2,600 in the Harrisburg (Pa.) yearling sale, but there was nothing to indicate he was any world beater.

Hoyt, a 38-year-old Bethel, Conn., hat manufacturer, is the first amateur driver ever to capture the harness world's most prized race.

Women's Ope Starts Today

Northfield, N. J. Aug. 12—(AP)—Pat O'Sullivan is a pert, blue-eyed 21-year-old girl who has a pretty good chance to win the third annual Women's National Open Golf Tournament, which begins today at the Atlantic City Country Club.

She's the sweater and skirt type who is most serious about her game. Pat is the youngest of four children and the only girl in her family. Her three brothers look on golf as a form relaxation. But, her father, Patrick B. O'Sullivan, of Orange, Conn., has other ideas. He's one of Connecticut's superior court judges.

"If I can break 80, I'll quit golf," says the 62-year-old judge. "I'll even caddy for my daughter."

Miss O'Sullivan is in competition with 51 other pretty good women golfers. Twelve of them are professionals. The book says the open should go to Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Zaharias of Ferndale, N. Y. The Babe just won the Tam O'Shanter tourney and her long hitting is expected to give her an edge in the National Open.

☆ BOTTLE STERILIZATION and CLEANING

"The world's finest bottling machinery" is used to bottle KOEHLER'S. Pictured is a section of the machine which washes and sterilizes every bottle. Removal of labels and the cleaning of bottles is done automatically as they travel through the machine. One full hour is required to wash and sterilize every (KOEHLER'S) bottle during the trip. The operation starts by thoroughly soaking the bottles in a caustic solution as they pass through five compartments ranging in temperature from 120° to 180° F., and is followed with two scrubbings by rotary brushes and four rinses. After emerging spic and span, every KOEHLER'S bottle passes under an American Sterilizer made ultra-violet ray lamp to protect its purity. At this point, the first of a series of inspections begins, to assure you that, "There is no better BEER!"

First Sunset Series Game Is Rained Out

In the first contest of the Sunset League playoffs at North Warren last evening, the Vets were leading Glendora Coffee by a score of 5 to 0 at the end of four and one-half innings with the Glendoras at bat when Chief Umpire Vizza called the game on account of rain. The games does not count because it did not go seven full innings, which constitutes a series contest. Therefore, the first game of the playoffs will be next Monday evening at the State Hospital diamond. Final score:

OME COMING GAME SEPTEMBER 18 TO HONOR 1928 TEAM

orts Boosters Plan Fete r Second Undefeated and ntied Blue and White Eleven

rren Sport Boosters are ulating plans for another e Coming Game" in Septem- nd the High School team to nored will be the 1928 foot- quad of 20 years ago.

e date for the homecoming will be Saturday, September when Warren High School host to a strong Franklin on the new War Memorial This will be the local team's d regularly scheduled game the first league game of the n.

honoring the 1928 squad of rmen who represented Warren High School 20 years ago, the Sports Boosters and public will be honoring the second undefeated and untied team in Warren High school history. Last year they went back 30 years to honor the team that represented Warren High School in 1917. This was Warren High's only other undefeated and untied team.

The names of 16 lettermen of the 1928 High School team was furnished the football committee of the Sports Boosters Association by the High School office.

Letters inviting these men to the reunion and homecoming are being mailed this week. One member of the squad, Robert Gaffner, is deceased.

Those to be honored are: Arthur M. Anderson; Ange (Captain) Bevevino; William Bevevino; Loren Bidwell; Edwin Bradford; Kay Burns; Richard Dase and Bernard Dennig. Also James Lytle, Fred Mack, Paul McCormack, Glenn Mickelson (student manager), Leonard "Kelly" Mowbray, Harold Patchen and Robert Schindler. Many of these men still make their home in or near Warren. Others have moved from Warren and though the addresses of most of them are known to the football committee some help from the public will be requested so that relatives or friends may supply the latest known address of members of the squad whom the committee cannot locate.

A list of the members of the squad whose addresses are not known will be published in the columns of the Times-Mirror soon. It is felt the list will not be a long one as the committee, with the cooperation of friends and relatives of the members of the 1928 squad, has been able to locate the majority of the men in question.

Following the pattern of the reunion held last year for the 1917 squad it is also planned to hold a stag smoker for members of the 1928 team on Friday, September 17th, the eve of the homecoming game. Details of this smoker and get-together will be worked out by the Football Committee of the Warren Sports Booster Association and announced shortly.

The Football Committee working on the plans for the two days' celebration, consists of J. R. "Doc" Elliott; C. T. "Ted" Berdine; Meyer A. Kornreich and Donald E. McComas, chairman. Any of these men would appreciate information pertaining to the present whereabouts of any members of the 1928 team not now living in Warren.

Pennant Fever Mounting In Philly As A's Beat Senators

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pennant fever is mounting in Philadelphia today. Connie Mack's astounding Athletics once again are only a hair's breadth out of first place in the American League's tingling pennant battle.

The A's, who on a number of occasions have been down and ready to be counted out of the struggle, moved to within .0001 of a percentage point of the front-running Cleveland Indians last night with a thrilling victory over Washington while the Indians divided a twilight-night doubleheader with St. Louis.

Connie Mack's hustling club has won 65 games and lost 43 while the Indians have copped 62 victories and suffered 41 defeats. Since the A's have played more games, they are a half game ahead of the Tribe, but Cleveland has the better won-lost percentage, .6019 to the A's .6018.

Philadelphia came from behind and beat the Senators, 8-3, while the Indians, after downing the Browns, 7-5, were crushed, 12-4, in the second game.

At St. Louis, Bob Lemon, with help from Satchel Paige in the seventh, gained his 15th victory for the Indians in the opener. The Indians were leading, 7-3, when the Browns drove Lemon from the hill during a two-run seventh inning rally.

Joe Gordon, Dale Mitchell and Jim Hegan led the Cleveland attack with three hits each. One of Gordon's hits was his 22nd homer.

Hefty clubbing by Rockies Hank Arft and Dick Kokos ruined the Indians in the nightcap. Arft drove home four runs on a homer, double, and single and Kokos knocked in three mates with a pair of two-baggers and a single.

The third place Boston Red Sox remained two games behind the A's beating the Yankees, 5-2, in a day game at New York.

In the only other night game in either circuit, the White Sox nipped Detroit Tigers, 2-1, at Chicago. A wild pitch by Virgil Trucks enabled Dave Philley to score from third with the winning run in the eighth inning.

The Boston Braves maintained their three-game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals in the National League race, beating the New York Giants 4-3, while the Dodgers and Cards also won.

The Dodgers nosed out the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, in Brooklyn as Marv Rackley singled home Billy Cox with the winning run with two down in the ninth inning. The Philadelphia runs came on round-trippers by Dick Sisler and Eddie Miller.

At Cincinnati, the Cardinals, led by Stan Musial thumped the Reds, 9-4. The Red Birds tallied once in the first on Musial's 28th four-bagger and six times in the second. Musial doubled home three runs in the Cards' big inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates moved within a half game of the fourth place Giants as Rep. Sewell exercised his mastery over the Chicago Cubs by a 4-2 triumph. It was Sewell's 30th victory over the Cubs since he entered the league.

Either Russians Clumsy In Spying Or They Are Unlucky

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington— (AP) —The Russians have been clumsy in their spying, or they're unlucky. In some of it, anyway.

Look at what's happened in Canada, in this country and in Yugoslavia. Take Canada first Igor Gouzenko, a lieutenant in the Red army, received special training for work in Canada. He was sent there in 1943 as a cipher clerk in the Russian embassy at Ottawa.

He was assigned to the staff of the military attache. He worked in a secret room His job was to code messages sent to Russia, uncode those from Russia.

In two years of doing that, he found out.

1. The Russian secret police had a spy ring in Canada.

2 His boss, the military attache, was head of a separate spy ring gathering Canadian military information for Russia.

Ordered to return to Russia in 1945, Gouzenko decided to stay in Canada at any cost. Instead of burning a lot of secret documents he handled, as he had been ordered to, he hid them and saved them.

Then he turned over the batch to the Canadian police. This broke the most sensational spy ring ever uncovered in North America. At least 11 of the Canadians pleaded guilty or were convicted.

Now take Yugoslavia.

That Communist country, under the dictatorship of Marshal Tito, a long-time Communist, had worked with Russia like a twin brother.

Some weeks ago the two countries split Since it was the first break between two Communist countries, the news was stunning

Pieces of the story have leaked out, but not all of it This week Tito told some of it in a letter he sent to members of Yugoslavia's Communist party. He said:

The Russians, while they still were bosom pals of the Yugoslavs, had tried to entice some of them to become spies for Russia.

And, shades of Gouzenko, one of the men the Russians tried to pull into their spy net was a Yugoslav cipher clerk

Now turn to this country.

In 1944, a year before Gouzenko went to the Candian police, Elizabeth T Bentley went to the FBI in this country and told them this story:

She had been a member of the American Communist party and had acted as messenger for a Soviet spy ring here.

In the ring, were a number of U. S. government employes and officials, some of them important.

Right at this point there's a Russian uproar in New York. There Michael Samarin, a Russian schoolteacher, has gone to the FBI.

He had been teaching the children of Russians in this country. When he was ordered on July 31 to return to Russia he, like Gouzenko, decided he didn't want to go. So he went to the FBI.

The Un - American Activities committee wants to hear what Samarin has to say. They've called on him to come here and testify.

All this doesn't mean the Russians haven't done successful spying — practically every country does some They've just been sloppy—or unlucky—some times.

Here's Why:

Homogenized milk is fresh, cream-filled milk; milk that has been made HOMOGENOUS—uniform throughout—so that the cream is perfectly united with the milk. It can't separate and rise to the top; every glassful in the whole bottle is equally rich. Never any cream on top of the glass—never any thin milk at the bottom of the bottle.

Besides doctors often tell you to drink Homogenized Milk because it is easier to digest—better for you. Also it is better for many cooking purposes (but not all), because it is rich and always uniform and never needs mixing.

Hikes On Wool Fabrics May Be Passed On To Customer

New York (AP) Clothing manufacturers are trying to guess today how much of the new and higher prices on wool fabrics they can pass on to the customer.

Some say that unless retail sales of men's suits pick up before October, they are afraid they will be forced to absorb all of the five per cent increase in fabric prices which American Woolen Co. has just announced. Otherwise they may find American men by the thousands making last year's suits do.

The increases, which will apply to worsteds for next spring's suits, average 20 cents a yard on standard fabrics and from 45 to 50 cents a yard on tropicals above prices paid for material for last spring's suits.

In the last year retail prices on men's suits in the "popular price range" have gone up more than $5 each. Clothing men report each rise has added to the number of men who left their stores empty-handed, after pricing the suits.

Before that of course, the demand for suits was so great that manufacturers were allocating their products to retailers, and buyers were taking what they could get—not what they may have wanted to wear.

The fabric makers say soaring raw wool prices—up 60 per cent in the last year—forced them to increase their quotations. And word comes today from Sydney that price-happy Australians think they may get even more for their wool crop than last year.

Other American mills are expected to hike their fabric prices soon. Some are reported to have planned higher hikes than American woolen announced, and are now reversing lists to get in competitive range.

Cloak and suit makers for women have a happier story to tell. They say business is better, and re-orders from retailers "very encouraging."

Fall business in suits in the $35 to $50 retail range is described as substantially higher than last year.

The re-orders are credited to consumer acceptance of the new styles.

Some store buyers are finding prices have been increased, especially on zip-in lined coats. Manufacturers say labor and material costs have gone up recently. Coats selling fastest are those bringing around $65.

Good Mudders

Latest thing in women's fall footwear, according to New York designer Julianellis, is spat shoes like these. This model is of black patent leather with pearl-gray suede, pearl-buttoned spats.

HAS LOST THE KNACK

Prehistoric man had to depend on his ears more than the man of today, being forced to keep constantly on the alert because of the savage beasts that roamed about him. Like the lower animals, he could rock his ears to catch the faintest sound.

Hikes On Wool Fabrics May Be Passed On To Customer

New York — (AP) — Clothing manufacturers are trying to guess today how much of the new and higher prices on wool fabrics they can pass on to the customer.

Some say that unless retail sales of men's suits pick up before October, they are afraid they will be forced to absorb all of the five per cent increase in fabric prices which American Woolen Co. has just announced. Otherwise, they may find American men by the thousands making last year's suits do.

The increases, which will apply to worsteds for next spring's suits, average 20 cents a yard on standard fabrics and from 45 to 50 cents a yard on tropicals above prices paid for material for last spring's suits.

In the last year retail prices on men's suits in the "popular price range" have gone up more than $5 each. Clothing men report each rise has added to the number of men who left their stores empty-handed, after pricing the suits.

Before that, of course, the demand for suits was so great that manufacturers were allocating their products to retailers, and buyers were taking what they could get—not what they may have wanted to wear.

The fabric makers say soaring raw wool prices—up 60 per cent in the last year—forced them to increase their quotations. And word comes today from Sydney that price-happy Australians think they may get even more for their wool crop than last year.

Other American mills are expected to hike their fabric prices soon. Some are reported to have planned higher hikes than American woolen announced, and are now reversing lists to get in competitive range.

Cloak and suit makers for women have a happier story to tell. They say business is better, and re-orders from retailers "very encouraging."

Fall business in suits in the $35 to $50 retail range is described as substantially higher than last year.

The re-orders are credited to consumer acceptance of the new styles.

Some store buyers are finding prices have been increased, especially on zip-in lined coats. Manufacturers say labor and material costs have gone up recently. Coats selling fastest are those bringing around $65.

Good Mudders

Latest thing in women's fall footwear, according to New York designer Julianellis, is spat shoes like these. This model is of black patent leather with pearl-gray suede, pearl-buttoned spats.

HAS LOST THE KNACK

Bullet-Proof Car Readied For Truman

Washington — (AP) —President Truman's bullet-proof railroad car is being groomed for a campaign swing around the country.

The car, formerly the Ferdinand Magellan, is in the naval gun factory here for what Dewey Long, White House transportation chief, describes as a "routine check-up."

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters today the only changes being made involve improvement of the air conditioning system and the installation of an oil burner to replace the coal stove in the galley, where the President's meals are prepared on trips.

The car, originally owned by the American Association of Railroads, was sold to the government some months ago for a nominal token sum.

During the war it was converted into a veritable fortress for the use of President Roosevelt.

Ross said some consideration is being given to extending the overhead canopy on the rear platform to improve hearing conditions for crowds which the President addresses from the rear of the car. He denied one published report, however, that the rear platform is being lowered and the grillwork changed.

Ross said no firm plans have as yet been made for Mr. Truman's campaign speaking tour. He has been invited to tee off with a Labor Day address at Detroit. But the President told a news conference last Thursday that the Detroit invitation is only one he has under consideration.

Farm Income Gain Reported

The State Department of Agriculture has announced the index of prices received by Pennsylvania farmers for principal agricultural products during the month ended July 15 advanced 14 points to 301 per cent of the 1909-14 average.

A Federal-State survey showed declining prices for new crop grains were more than offset by price increases in livestock.

There was no change in prices farmers pay for goods and services and the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar advanced six cents to $1.20 or four cents above a year ago.

Prices received for livestock and livestock product items, except chickens which remained unchanged at 37.7 cents a pound live weight, and sheep which were off 30 cents per hundredweight, recorded substantial gains. Milk at wholesale advanced 35 cents to $5.25 a hundred pounds and eggs went up 6.3 cents to average 58.2 cents a dozen.

Except for buckwheat, new crop grains dropped from 11 to 33 cents a bushel, and price of corn averaging $2.20 and wheat $2.17 a bushel. Hay dropped $1.20 per ton to $17.60, apples advanced 15 cents to average $2.40 a bushel and potatoes went up five cents to $2.10 a bushel.

On the basis of 1909-14 prices averaging 100, the index for all farm products was 301; crops, 267; livestock and products, 312, including meat animals at 398, a new record; dairy products 318; poultry and eggs, 241.

Milk cow prices advanced $1 to a record $225 averaeg per head between June 15 and July 15, the survey revealed. Beef cattle averaged $26.50 at mid-month, an advance of 50 cents a hundred pounds liveweight. Lambs advanced $2 to $26.50. Butter was up one cent to 79 cents a pound.

Bullet-Proof Car Readied For Truman

Washington — (AP) —President Truman's bullet-proof railroad car is being groomed for a campaign swing around the country.

The car, formerly the Ferdinand Magellan, is in the naval gun factory here for what Dewey Long, White House transportation chief, describes as a "routine check-up."

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters today the only changes being made involve improvement of the air conditioning system and the installation of an oil burner to replace the coal stove in the galley, where the President's meals are prepared on trips.

The car, originally owned by the American Association of Railroads, was sold to the government some months ago for a nominal token sum.

During the war it was converted into a veritable fortress for the use of President Roosevelt.

Ross said some consideration is being given to extending the overhead canopy on the rear platform to improve hearing conditions for crowds which the President addresses from the rear of the car. He denied one published report, however, that the rear platform is being lowered and the grillwork changed.

Ross said no firm plans have as yet been made for Mr. Truman's campaign speaking tour. He has been invited to tee off with a Labor Day address at Detroit. But the President told a news conference last Thursday that the Detroit invitation is only one he has under consideration.

Farm Income Gain Reported

The State Department of Agriculture has announced the index of prices received by Pennsylvania farmers for principal agricultural products during the month ended July 15 advanced 14 points to 301 per cent of the 1909-14 average.

A Federal-State survey showed declining prices for new crop grains were more than offset by price increases in livestock.

There was no change in prices farmers pay for goods and services and the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar advanced six cents to $1.20 or four cents above a year ago.

Prices received for livestock and livestock product items, except chickens which remained unchanged at 37.7 cents a pound live weight, and sheep which were off 30 cents per hundredweight, recorded substantial gains. Milk at wholesale advanced 35 cents to $5.25 a hundred pounds and eggs went up 6.3 cents to average 58.2 cents a dozen.

Except for buckwheat, new crop grains dropped from 11 to 33 cents a bushel, and price of corn averaging $2.20 and wheat $2.17 a bushel. Hay dropped $1.20 per ton to $17.60, apples advanced 15 cents to average $2.40 a bushel and potatoes went up five cents to $2.10 a bushel.

On the basis of 1909-14 prices averaging 100, the index for all farm products was 301; crops, 267; livestock and products, 312, including meat animals at 398, a new record; dairy products 318; poultry and eggs, 241.

Milk cow prices advanced $1 to a record $225 averaeg per head between June 15 and July 15, the survey revealed. Beef cattle averaged $26.50 at mid-month, an advance of 50 cents a hundred pounds liveweight. Lambs advanced $2 to $26.50. Butter was up one cent to 79 cents a pound.
